KILLERS' TRAIL POINTS TO LISBON

Rewards of $5,250 Posted for Niebel Slayers

LUTHERAN CAMP LEADERS who discovered the bodies. Robert Zoeller, 18, stands to the left of Rev. Herbert Veler, 42. The two discovered the bodies in the field off Flemings Falls road as they led a group of 65 boys down the murder-scene road. Zoeller first "saw something" after examination he told Rev. Veler, who returned to examine the scene. They asked Mrs. John Winger to notify the sheriff without letting the boys know of the tragedy.

PRETTY BLOND HAIRED PHYLLIS NIEBEL, 20, was kidnaped with her parents from their home, 1399 North Main street, and later murdered in a corn field on Fleming Falls road. The young girl had been shot once in the back of her head and was found lying between her mother and father in the field.

VICTIMS OF THE HORRIBLE CRIME—A recent studio portrait shows Mr. and Mrs. Niebel as a happy couple. John Elmer Niebel, 50, had been farm superintendent at OSR since 1928. His wife, Nolana, was 51.

Blood-Stained Car Linked To 2 Youths

BULLETIN
State Highway Patrol investigators about noon today discovered clear hand prints on the 1946 Dodge automobile in the John Niebel double garage. Officers said entrance to the garage had been forced from the rear. Prints of a hand were found on the hood and fender.

The nationwide search for the killers of John Elmer Niebel, 50, Mansfield Reformatory farm supervisor; his wife, Nolana, 51, and their daughter, Phyllis, 20, turned today toward Lisbon, O., where a blood-stained automobile was abandoned by two youths who severely beat a restaurant dishwasher.

Meanwhile, Chairman John Selby of the county commissioners announced that the county had posted a $5,000 reward for information leading to the apprehension and conviction of the ruthless slayers and The News-Journal announced it would pay an additional $250 reward.

The Lisbon report indicated that the killers had abandoned the light colored sedan in which they forced the Niebels to leave their residence at 1399 North Main street early yesterday, drove them to a cornfield off Flemings Falls road, and there shot them down. The three nude bullet-riddled bodies were found in the field 12 hours after the Niebels disappeared.

Chief of Police J. E. Pike of Lisbon told The News-Journal that Jasper Hutes, dishwasher in the East End Diner, was set upon about 50 feet from the diner after he left work early today.

One of the assailants struck Hutes on the head with a nickel-plated revolver. Hutes went down, but came up fighting, and was getting the better of his assailant, when another man sitting in the light colored car came to the first assailant's help.

Together they beat up on Hutes, who managed nevertheless to escape and run around the corner. In the scuffle, the youths lost their car keys and had to abandon the vehicle, the police chief said.

Sheriff George E. Hayes of Columbiana county told The News-Journal from Lisbon that a 1941 Dodge pick-up truck was reported stolen early today, six miles northeast of Lisbon.

Hutes, who required six stitches in his head, told Pike that the two youths, whom he had never seen before, were in the restaurant diner earlier. He said they looked "suspicious" to him at the time.

Pike described the car abandoned by the two as a gray Pontiac convertible coupe, either 1938 or 1939 model.

That description fits the automobile seen near the Niebel home yesterday morning and also fits reasonably well the description of an automobile in which Robert Murl Daniels and James C. West, paroled Ohio Reformatory inmates, last were seen. Daniels and West are the objects of a nationwide hunt as identified killers of Earl C. Ambrose, a Columbus tavern proprietor.

Pike said blood was found on the window of the left door of the abandoned car.

He said the blood quite probably did not result from the altercation as it appeared "dry and hard."

Another indication that the blood was not the result of Hutes's encounter was the fact that the windows of the car were down, but the blood was on the glass below the window frame.

SHORT, HEAVY SET

Hutes described the two assailants as short and heavy set. The seat of the car also was pushed as far forward as possible for a short driver, Pike said. Daniels and West are short, heavy-set swarthy men.

The two did not wear hats, Hutes said, but a hat found in the car was bought in Beaver Falls in 1945.

ROAD MAP MARKED

Sheriff Pike, who is checking fingerprints, said a road map found in the car was marked from Youngstown to Conneaut Lake, to Conneaut, Kingsville, Seneca, Cleveland, to Lorain, doubling back to Cleveland, Akron, Doylestown, Dalton, Massillon, and East Liverpool.

Pike said the Pontiac has Illinois license plates, the one off the front being in the floor of the car. The keys had a Missouri driver's license issued to Clark W. Kitchen, of Leasburg, Mo. The Illinois license plates, which are believed stolen, were 967310.

Richland county deputies received a report today that a car stopped on Beam road, nine miles west of Mansfield the night be-

Wage Accord Lifts Ford Strike Threat

DETROIT—(UP)—Ford Motor company and CIO United Auto Workers reached agreement today on a new pact providing a 13-cent hourly wage increase for 116,000 Ford workers.

The agreement, ending threats of a nationwide walkout in 46 Ford plants, came after a gruelling 19-hour bargaining session throughout the night

In addition to the 13-cent cash wage increase, the agreement provides social security benefits amounting to an additional 3½ cents.

The agreement, which the union negotiating committee said it will recommend that membership ratify, will run for a one-year period, expiring July 15, 1949, provided the union ratification comes before Aug. 16.

Ford Motor company officials estimated the cost of the wage and social security benefits at $32,000,000 annually.

The "fringe" benefits for workers include improved vacation eligibility rules and expanded group insurance program.

After all-night bargaining, Ford's negotiating team yielded to UAW demands that the new wage agreement be effective for a one year period only.

Union spokesmen said that as a result of the one year plan, Ford will be first of the "big three" automotive concerns to be confronted with the wage question in 1949. Both General Motors and Chrysler signed two-year pacts on wages this year.

In winning the one-year wage agreement, the UAW yielded one cent on its pay hike demands. The union originally asked for a 14-cent cash increase for hourly workers.

Truman Hints Rationing Bid

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Truman strongly indicated today that he will ask the special session of Congress for price controls and some form of rationing to halt rising prices.

The chief executive told a news conference to "wait and see" what he has to say about vitally needed measures to put the nation's economy back on a sound basis.

Mr. Truman said he will reveal all at 12:30 p. m. (EDT) Tuesday when he addresses a joint session on the Congress.

Faces Murder Trial

COLUMBUS—(AP)—John Thomas, 34, Ohio penitentiary convict serving time for a Montgomery county burglary, must stand trial for first degree murder in the slaying of two prison guards. The man was declared "legally sane" yesterday in a report of the Lima State hospital.

Legislature Begins Work

Governor Asks 3-Point Program

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The Ohio legislature met in special session this afternoon with all indications pointing to prompt enactment of Gov. Thomas J. Herbert's three-point program.

The governor said he was expecting no delay in enactment of his sales tax cut, old age pension increase and welfare department appropriations.

Legislative leaders predicted that the special session will be completed by Friday afternoon or night with approval of the governor's program.

Yesterday Gov. Herbert turned down pleas to open the special session for consideration of extra state financing for local subdivisions. He told representatives of the Association of Ohio Municipalities he could "not see the urgency" for additional financial relief at this time.

Members of the legislature will decide whether or not the governor expands his call to permit consideration of legislation that would permit the Henry A. Wallace third party ticket to appear on the ballot.

The governor indicated he would authorize consideration of the subject if legislative leaders request it. He said he knew of some sentiment among members to permit the Wallace ticket to go on the ballot.

CHINESE REDS ATTACKING

SHANGHAI — (UP) — Communist attacks against Taiyuan, capital of Shansi province, were reported increasing in intensity today.

CITY, COUNTY AND STATE officials look for clues. Investigators from the police department and Sheriff Frank E. Robinson scan the murder scene on Flemings Falls road for evidence. The group in the cornfield on the R. B. Gardner farm are examining the bodies and the surrounding area.

Geyer Hits At Gamblers

Don T. Geyer, state liquor control enforcement chief, has urged a "tell all" policy for cafe operators having knowledge of irregularities in enforcing action by state officials

At a meeting of the state liquor control board in Sandusky yesterday, Geyer urged liquor dealers to give all information they possessed on possible collusion between enforcement officials and gambling machine distributors in the area.

Geyer, with the help of agents working under his direction, is conducting an investigation in the Sandusky area, which includes Richland, Crawford and Ashland counties. Investigators have already visited Crawford and Ashland, and are expected soon in Richland county

Views Differ On Farmer's 'Master Cell'

MIDDLESBORO, Mass.—(INS)—The adjective "great" fitted Farmer John Brown today. Sentiment was divided, however, as to how it should be applied.

Many believed the farmer and retired pharmacist who has claimed discovery of the elixir of life, incorporated in his "master cells" was a "great" benefactor As many others were convinced he was a "great" faker.

There seemed to be no middle ground as federal and state agents pushed their efforts to determine what makes the cell tick.

Brown and his farmer disciples, however, were heartened by the statement of Dr Joseph Sieberlick, head of the University of New Hampshire experimental station at Durham.

Soviets Jail 2 Americans

BERLIN —(AP)— Two American military policemen were arrested by the Russians today after they drove into Russian zone "by mistake," the provost marshal's office said

They were Privates Elwood E. Dwinnel of Mabton, Wash, and George G Hunt of Camp (Pike county) Ohio.

The provost marshal's office said they were on a regular patrol in the American sector of Berlin when they accidentally drove into the Soviet zone on a side road.

In coming out, they took a main street leading back to the American sector and were picked up by a Russian patrol.

German police notified American authorities.

Probe Bares Brutality

Coroner Checks Attack Clues

Coroner D. C. Lavender's report of an autopsy indicated the cold blooded manner in which the three Niebels were wiped out.

Taken, nude or in scanty summer night clothing, from their home about 2 a. m., their unclothed bodies were found more than 12 hours later in the cornfield off Flemings Falls road, two miles from U. S. 42, about six miles from the home from which they were kidnaped.

Lavender said Niebel had been shot through the top of the head, the bullet coming out in the vicinity of the nasal passage. There also were indications that he was struck with a blunt instrument but the coroner said the blow was not sufficient to have caused death.

Phyllis Niebel was shot through the back of the head on the left side, the bullet lodging under her right eye.

"To the best of my knowledge and experience when I examined the girl's body and performed a post mortem, I would say that the girl had not been assaulted," Lavender said.

Mrs. Nolana Niebel was shot through the head with the bullet lodging in the facial bones. X-ray were taken at General hospital to determine just where the bullet came to rest. There was evidence that Mrs Niebel might have been left to die; officials said there were indications the body had moved.

BULLETIN

Mass Break Theory

George Allarding, assistant superintendent of the Ohio Reformatory, was asked late today if officials gave any credence to a theory that the killers of the Niebel family were attempting to force John Niebel to open reformatory gates for a mass break.

"Naturally there is a possibility, but it is only a supposition," Allarding said.

Brutal Murder Baffles Grief-Stricken Son

Grief-stricken Loyal Niebel, one of two surviving sons of the brutally-slain Niebel family, wept today as he probed over and over into his own mind for any circumstances that could possibly have provided a motive for the cold-blooded "mad dog" killing of his mother, sister and father.

Near the breaking point and dazed from grief and shock, 24-year-old Loyal Niebel mechanically went ahead with funeral arrangements for his parents and sister today, waited for arrival of his brother, Russell, 22, of Chicago, and cast about for some explanation of the triple slaying which brought Richland county the worst crime in its history.

The son of the slain Ohio Reformatory farm superintendent, interviewed at the Jones funeral home where the funeral services will be held Friday, declared that he knew of no circumstance which could have fostered so deep a feeling of revenge as to account for such an action, even in a criminally-warped mind.

He said he cannot make up his own mind whether he feels that Robert Murl Daniels, 24, and James Coulter West, 22, paroled inmates of the Reformatory and now sought as suspects, would be the logical persons to suspect.

FATHER NOT HARSH

"Although I suppose they worked for father on the farm, I know of no occasion when father was unduly harsh to anyone in his discipline," the grieving son said.

"Father disciplined inmates as did everyone else at the Reformatory. I've heard him mention such discipline casually, but I never heard him speak of any-

Rewards Posted By News-Journal For Killers, Bombers —An Editorial

THE NEWS-JOURNAL offers herewith a total of $500 reward for information to this newspaper leading to arrest and conviction of the perpetrators of crimes which have smeared two of history's worst black marks upon Mansfield's record.

Two hundred and fifty dollars of the reward money will be paid for information to this newspaper leading to solution of the heinous murder of John Elmer Niebel, Ohio State Reformatory farm superintendent, his wife, Nolana, and their daughter, Miss Phyllis Niebel.

Another $250 reward is offered by this newspaper for information leading to arrest and conviction of the person or persons who placed a bomb at the back door of the Crescent cafe on South Park street and in the explosion of which two Mansfield policemen and two firemen narrowly escaped being killed.

This newspaper has no intention of attempting to take upon itself any part of the function of law enforcement or any of the mechanics of crime prevention in Mansfield. These duties are properly the responsibility of the governmental machinery.

However, when three citizens of our community are slain in one of the most shocking, cold-blooded examples of all modern crime, and when only providence intervenes between death and four members of our safety department, The News-Journal feels that it should do its part as a citizen of Mansfield to help an aroused community to proper action.

There is no idea that these two crimes are in any way directly connected, and no thought that the bombing of a cafe compares in any way with the tragic crime which brought death to three innocent persons at the hands of mad dog killers who are still at large.

At the same time, it was through no act of the bombing perpetrators that two Mansfield policemen and two firemen were not killed, instead of being just injured, in the explosion of a powerful dynamite bomb which rocked a section of Mansfield's business district early on the morning of July 5.

This newspaper has repeatedly sought to impress upon county and city officials the seriousness of this type of lawlessness. We have repeatedly urged that the county offer reward money in the bombing case.

Since this has not been done, The News-Journal feels that it is its duty as a citizen to proceed on its own.

The paper will do everything in its power to aid any person who has information on either of these crimes and to get such information into the right channels, to see that justice is done. The paper also will do its utmost to protect the purveyors of any such information from reprisal at the hands of anyone who might be involved in either case.

Ohio Wheat Crop 'Tops'

Records Set At Elevators

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Glowing reports of Ohio's bumper wheat crop continued to come from all sections of the state today.

Three elevators in Upper Sandusky set a record Monday, receiving a total of 65,000 bushels of wheat in a single day. The elevators were kept busy from 6 a. m. until 10 p. m., unloading every type of truck, trailer and farm wagon.

It was 2 a. m. Tuesday when the elevators had their books balanced, officials of the U. S. Commission company, elevator operators, reported. More than 400 vehicles were unloaded by two of the elevators Monday. Some came with farmers their wives and children riding on trucks.

In Marysville, Union county, Harry P. Clouse, president of the Ohio Grain company, said "this year's wheat crop has, so far, been one of the best we have ever handled." His firm operates elevators in Marysville, Milford Center, North Lewisburg and Mechanicsburg.

Recent rains will affect the quality of the little grains that remain unharvested, he said, but up to now, the crop is about as good as any farmer could ask.

"The harvest this year has been yielding as high as 43 and 45 bushels per acre," he said. "The average is more than 30 bushels against an average of 20 to 25 bushels in an ordinary year."

He said the grain is testing 58-63 pounds per bushel, compared with the ordinary 58-60.

The Nuptial Baker's Slogan—

'Brides Get Cakes and Eat 'Em, Too

MRS. KONRAD ZIEGLER . . . with a prize cake

By NITA BRANSON

The same recipe she used for Lauren Bacall's wedding cake when the Hollywood actress married Humphrey Bogart at Louis Bromfield's Malabar Farm has been used for at least 400 bridal cakes for Mansfield and Richland county girls, Mrs. Konrad Ziegler, 117 Gettings place, says.

"I've used that same recipe for white cake for eight years," she recalled. "Not only for wedding cakes, but for anniversary and birthday cakes as well. I think I must have baked at least 1,000 cakes since the time I started doing special baking eight years ago."

Mrs Ziegler has adopted a slogan for her work: "Brides get cakes and eat 'em, too." We want people to know our cakes are just as palatable as they are decorative, she said.

Mrs. Ziegler bakes because she loves to bake. Proceeds from her luscious, beautiful cakes are helping put her three children, Mrs. Paul Pfahler, Marjorie and Dick, through college.

The first cake she baked was made for the daughter of a neighbor.

"The cake that has given me the most satisfaction in baking was the one I made several weeks ago for my daughter's wedding," Mrs. Ziegler recalls. "That was the nicest I ever baked."

Mrs. Ziegler's cakes are used at wedding receptions as far away as Canton, and it takes a lot of "know-how" to get the cakes to the bride's home intact.

"At first, when we delivered cakes," Mrs. Ziegler said, "we scarcely breathed while we were driving, but now we just throw 'em around."

Mrs Ziegler bakes cakes to suit any desired color scheme, but most of her wedding cakes are all white with tiny green leaves. They are perfect in design and form.

"Most brides get their own tops because they know what will fit their color schemes," she explained.

Mrs. Ziegler's production of cakes varies during the year from two to as high as seven a week.

In addition to her homemaking and cake baking, Mrs. Ziegler works with the home economics department at the Dominion Electric company.

"My brides," as she calls them, are kept in a huge scrapbook which has beginning to bulge with the picture output of satin gowned girls from Mansfield and Richland county.

Boston Red Sox Finally Catch Up With Yankees

Brooklyn Wins Two In National League

By JACK HAND, AP Sports Writer

Joe McCarthy finally has caught the New York Yankees, the club his Boston Red Sox consider "the team to beat" for the American league flag.

By winning a day-night doubleheader from lowly Chicago while New York and Cleveland were splitting a pair, the Red Sox last night moved into a third-place tie with the world champs.

While the Yanks and Indians wrestle on the Yankee stadium turf for two more days Boston has a golden chance to gain more ground in its continued series with the White Sox. Only 3½ games back today, Boston can be in a position to challenge for the lead Saturday when Lou Boudreau's Indians move into Fenway park.

McCarthy must have been encouraged, too, by the relief win of Tex Hughson, the tall Texan who has been lost to the team most of the season.

HUGHSON WINS

Hughson came in to pitch the ninth inning of last night's game with Chicago, picking up the verdict when the Red Sox rallied for three runs in the last of the ninth to take a 10-9 edge. They had won the afternoon half by a 3-1 score for Joe Dobson's 12th success.

At the stadium New York ganged up on the Tribe in the first of a doubleheader for a 7-3 decision over Bob Muncrief. Ed Lopat scattered six hits for his seventh straight triumph.

The Yanks had an 8-4 lead going into the seventh frame of the second game but couldn't hold it. Joe Page was rapped lustily in a relief chore, leaving the game with the score tied and two men on base in the eighth. Karl Drews took over and walked pinchhitter Wally Judnich to load them up. Then Jim Hegan delivered a grand slam homer for the ball game, 12-8.

Philadelphia ran into disaster at Shibe park where the St. Louis Browns pounded out 21 hits to win 17-5. Joe Coleman, Charley Harris and Bob Savage were hit hard while Cliff Fannin coasted home on an 11-hitter.

Washington's Walt Masterson got by with a 12-hitter as the Senators dumped Detroit, 6-1. Freddie Hutchinson was shelled from the hill in a three-run fifth inning.

Brooklyn's surge again featured the National league doings as the Brooks won a pair from Chicago, 9-3 and 7-1, clipping Boston's lead to six games.

BRANCA GETS NO. 12

Ralph Branca had little trouble pitching win No. 12 in the opener. Ralph Hamner was the victim.

The Brooks were held hitless for 5⅓ innings by Bob McCall in the second game. They finally broke loose for four runs in the sixth, including Gene Hermanski's homer with two on.

Warren Spahn pitched steady, effective seven-hit ball as the Boston Braves downed Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell, 6-2. Blackwell struck out nine but dished up home run balls to Earl Torgeson and Jeff Heath, more than enough to beat him.

Harry Brecheen turned in a brilliant effort for St. Louis, striking out 10 New York Giants, in earning his 10th win by an 8-4 score. The Cards exploded six runs in the seventh to drive Ray Poat from the mound.

The Phillies shaded Pittsburgh, 3-2 in 10 innings despite the first major league homer by Elmer Riddle, veteran Pirate pitcher. Johnny Blatnik's triple and Eddie Miller's single did the trick, saddling Elmer Singleton with the loss on relief and giving a sixth victory to Schoolboy Rowe, who replaced Walt Dubiel in the eighth.

Branch Rickey Getting Worst Press of Anybody—Carver

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK —(NS)— Branch Rickey undoubtedly has the worst press of anybody in sports today.

The president of the Brooklyn Dodgers is a man with few friends among his own tribesmen—the hustlers who make their living out of outsmarting each other and athletes in the nation's arenas. Some are in baseball, others are in wrestling or boxing, or any number of professional sports.

Rickey's trouble is his innate inability to tell the whole truth. Whenever he says anything it is only a little slice of the truth with the important facts held up if this arrangement suits his purpose.

While operating by this devious and questionable method he assumes an air of piety calculated to make onlookers feel that they are in the presence of the last word in all that is forthright.

He is a strange man who has parlayed an education and a reasonably good brain into record-breaking unpopularity. No one has a good word for him. Most of the baseball writers hold him in deepest, most sincere contempt.

It is virtually certain that he will leave the Dodgers this year or next under one pretext or another, and probably go into retirement, because of the attitude of his fellow-man toward him.

In the old days when he was managing ball clubs he stayed home on Sundays and somebody else—mainly Burt Shotton—was called upon to serve as his stand-in manager.

But it finally was discovered that Rickey was not entirely asleep on the Sabbath. He devised the Sunday double-header to get more people into the park which he shunned because of devotion to religion.

His handling of Leo Durocher was along the same hypocritical line. You don't have to love Durocher, and few people do. But Rickey connived against his manager constantly and never had the courage to come right out and fire him.

Mansfield Grays Wallop Shelby Blues Club, 9-1

The Mansfield Grays capitalized on the brilliant hurling of Don Hardy to defeat the Shelby Blues, 9-1, in a game yesterday evening at Blue Goose park.

Hardy scattered seven Shelby hits and fanned 12 in holding the visitors scoreless until the final inning.

The Grays, meanwhile, combed three Shelby pitchers for 13 blows including four doubles and a home run. Jack Hammett, who seems to have taken over the role of leading batter as well as top pitcher, led the attack with three singles and a double, a perfect day at bat. Jim Guest bashed the home run.

The Grays took a one run lead in the second inning when Wilbur Wade walked with the bases loaded and added four to clinch the game in the fourth. Singles by Wade and Shelly Swank, doubles by Hammett and Dean Hahn and Guest's home run had a part in the rally.

The Grays will be host to the Mansfield Hawks at 5:30 p. m. today at Blue Goose. The Madison township Hot Stove league game, also scheduled at Blue Goose, is believed to have been cancelled.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS
Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalisers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health. —Adv.

Woman Asks For Reprieve

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The mother of 18-year-old Donald J. Frohner, sentenced to die in Ohio's electric chair Aug. 20, will appeal to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert to spare the boy's life.

Mrs. Lorena Frohner, 46, said last night she will visit the governor's office today to obtain an appointment for an interview. Another son, Theodore, 23, will accompany her.

The Ohio Supreme court yesterday upheld the Youngstown high school boy's first degree murder conviction of 18 months ago, and set Aug. 20 as the date for his execution.

Frohner was only 16 when he and a high school chum, Arthur N. Chapman, killed William C. Spieth, a salesman. The boys said they wanted Spieth's automobile to be used in kidnapping for ransom another high school boy.

Mrs. Frohner said she would ask the governor to commute her son's death sentence to life imprisonment.

Boat Capsizes, 2 Lose Lives

CINCINNATI—(INS)—Two Cincinnati women drowned in the Ohio river near New Richmond today when the John-boat in which they were riding struck a channel buoy and capsized.

Their male companions clung to the boat and drifted to shore.

Drowned were Mrs. Mildred Gaskins, 38, and Miss Ruth Crenshaw, 22. Their bus-driver companions, Harold Matthews, 22, and Joseph Buchanon, 29, told police chief Fred Hoh of New Richmond that the women also clung to the boat for a time but lost their holds and slipped beneath the surface.

Tiny Ohio Town Receives New Gift of $2,500,000

NEW YORK—(AP)—A rich family's love for a little Ohio town where the father was born found expression again yesterday.

Lithopolis, Fairfield county, received a gift of $2,500,000 for education, art and science. The little town, 15 miles southeast of Columbus, was bequeathed almost all of the estate of the late Mrs. Mabel Wagnalls Jones, writer, pianist and daughter of a founder of the Funk and Wagnalls Publishing firm.

The money will go to the Wagnalls memorial at Lithopolis, which Mrs. Jones built in 1925 in memory of her father, Adam Willis Wagnalls, and mother, Anna Wagnalls. The late publisher was born in Lithopolis.

A tax appraisal filed yesterday in New York revealed that Mrs. Jones left an estate of $2,780,788.

Other bequests totaling $215,000 were made in her will, including $40,000 each to five cousins.

Part of the money for Lithopolis will go into scholarships for undergraduates in colleges, music and art schools. These are available to all boys and girls in Bloom township, in which Lithopolis is situated.

Mrs. Jones ordered that "citizens resident of the village of Lithopolis be preferred to all others, and that citizens resident elsewhere in the township of Bloom be next preferred." Lithopolis has a population of 288.

Mrs. Jones, who died March 22, 1946, was the widow of Richard J. Jones.

The Wagnalls memorial itself is in the form of a community center in Lithopolis.

It has a library of 6,000 volumes, an auditorium where the latest movies are screened at a nominal admission price, and a dining room which is used by local churches and community organizations.

In the tower are many paintings, some by John Ward Dunsmore, the most famed of which is his painting of Betsy Ross sewing the first flag. Here also is the original manuscript of Edwin Markham's poem, "The Man With the Hoe."

Guilt Denied By Molnar

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Cuyahoga County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan was to cross-examine Ernest L. Molnar today in an effort to crack his testimony that money from his relatives enabled lush spending beyond his modest police salary.

Molnar, former Cleveland police lieutenant on trial on 11 counts of a bribery indictment, testified yesterday that the $50,000 worth of real estate, automobiles, apparel and big tuition bills dug up by the state were paid for largely by his mother, his son's gambling winnings and his father-in-law's bounty.

Molnar flatly denied each bribe accusation fired at him by notorious Cleveland gamblers. He testified that he associated with known policy racketeers only to use them as "stool pigeons."

Cullitan also was expected to question Molnar on the four times he was brought up on charges in the police department for breaking duty rules.

Hershey Pledges Liberal Draft Deferment Policy

Inductions Will Begin In October

30,000 Monthly Call Estimated

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Selective service officials indicated today that only a small fraction of the youths who register for the new draft will be called for duty with the armed forces.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, said he does not expect any call for men from the Army, chief beneficiary of the draft, until after registration is complete. He refused to estimate how many men the first call would ask.

But he did say that it was unlikely that any men would be inducted before Oct. 1.

In the absence of an estimate by Hershey, a figure of approximately 30,000 inductions per month, based on an earlier statement by Army Secretary Royall, was generally accepted as the approximate number to be called up after the draft gets going.

Legally no men can be called for induction before Sept. 22. While it was believed at one time that a few would be inducted on that date, if only as a token, military observers agree with Hershey that there will be practically no draft inductions before Oct. 1.

Hershey indicated that a comparatively few registrants would be called for induction after he said jokingly:

"Out of 600,000 we should be able to find one man who can't be deferred or exempted."

The selective service director asserted that industry would not be hit very hard by the draft, even if the first men called are in the 25-year age group. He said that out of 1,200,000 men in the country aged 25, there probably would be 28,000 to 30,000 "that we would look at."

WILL 'LOOK AT' SOME

Hershey explained that the draft boards would "look at"—that is, seriously consider—these men because they would be the ones not automatically deferred by such factors as previous service, marriage, occupation or physical defects.

Of the 28,000, he said, perhaps as few as 8,000 would be drafted, with the rest finding one reason or another for deferment.

Hershey refused again to predict the basis for calling men up, and for the first time in several months revived the possibility of a lottery. He indicated, however, that selective service would prefer to call men on an age group basis, as it did in the closing years of World War II.

He also pointed out that if 25-year-olds were not taken first, they would be lost in a year. Hershey said that statistical figures from the war years showed 100,000 men a month passing their 26th birthday.

The selective service director emphasized that even men with practically automatic and certain deferments would have to register.

The only men between the ages of 18 and 25, inclusive, who do not have to register are those on active duty with the armed services and diplomatic and consular personnel of foreign countries.

Paint Firm Heads Deny Conspiracy

CLEVELAND—(INS)—High officials of the Sherwin-Williams company and the Glidden company flatly denied Wednesday charges they conspired to fix prices on paints and wood finishes.

The two Cleveland firms were among 14 corporations indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury in Pittsburgh on charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust act.

'Gas'-Hunting Duo Linked to Murders

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Mrs. J. Paul Simpson of State Route 13 north reported to the sheriff's office this morning that two strange men had come to her home Tuesday evening asking for gasoline. Mrs. Simpson expressed belief there may be some connection between the visit and the murder of John Elmer Niebel, his wife and daughter.

The men appeared at the door between 6 and 7 p. m. Tuesday, Mrs. Simpson said. When they made their request for gasoline, she asked where their car was and they said "up on 13."

Mrs. Simpson told them that she had no gasoline and suggested they try the airport. The Simpson home is located on the Charles Nail farm and is the last house on the left side of the road before reaching the airport.

Mrs. Simpson's husband was out of town at the time but her five children were in the house and her mother was in the yard. The men left, but Mrs. Simpson said she did not believe that they went to the airport.

MEN IN 20s

The two men were described as young, in their 20's or 30's. One was above average height, blond, with a ruddy complexion. The other was short and dark. Both were without hats or coats.

Mrs. Simpson advanced the theory that they might have been staying in a deserted picnic cottage which is on the Nail property which the Simpsons rent. She said the cottage was down the lane a considerable distance from the main house.

Tramps and loiterers have used the cottage in the past.

Mrs. Simpson said that she had noticed no activity down there, but that cars often park in the lane at night, since it is known as a lover's lane. The cottage is easily accessible from State Route 13, but is comparatively isolated. The Simpsons do not rent the cottage and do not go down there.

Yearly Farm Mishaps Up

BUCYRUS — Although national figures show a decrease in farm accidents during the last year, the Crawford county farm accident rate is on the increase, R. O. Deacon, Crawford county Rural Safety committee chairman, said today.

Farm mishaps in the county increased from 300 to 325 last year, which includes traffic accidents in rural areas. Traffic accidents accounted for 25 per cent of the mishaps, as compared with only eight per cent in 1946.

Misuse of farm machinery and falls caused 10 per cent of the accidents compared with 14 per cent in 1946. Twenty per cent resulted from handling of livestock.

Highest accident rate was in the age group from 25 to 44 years.

Total cash lost as the result of farm accodents was $34,313.75 as compared with $29,511.60 in the previous year. Medical care and labor replacement are included in the cost with $10,513 expended for medical care and $23,800 for labor replacement.

Willard Airport News

Ohio Air Tour Plans Return

WILLARD — The Willard Airport will be host to a flight of nearly 100 airplanes on Sunday morning when the All-Ohio Air Tour again visits the field on its seventh annual trip. The 100 planes will leave Cleveland Friday, stopping at Erie, Pa., Buffalo, N. Y., and Toronto, Canada. On Saturday they will visit London, Canada and Detroit, Mich., and Toledo. Sunday they will stop in Findlay and Willard and end the three-day tour with dinner at Sandusky.

It is the aim of the Air Tour to bring home to the general public the safety and ease of light plane travel by assembling the largest number of planes ever to take part in a three-day tour. The tour is sponsored by the Cleveland Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In connection with Willard Air Tour Day, the local airport is sponsoring the first model airplane meet, from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. Model airplane flyers from Mansfield, Bucyrus, Galion, Sandusky, Bellevue and surrounding towns will compete for prizes in stunt flying, scale model, and jet engines for speed. The three races will be open to junior, senior and open-class flyers. A 160-foot track has been built at the north end of the Willard airport for the meet.

An air show and parachute jump has been planned for the afternoon and airplane rides will be given all day at reduced prices.

More than 3,500 people witnessed the air show and air tour arrival last year. It is anticipated that an even larger crowd will be on hand to welcome the group this year.

The following pilots and passengers participated on the "Dawn Flight" to Ashland for breakfast Sunday morning: Dean Funk, John Tetrick, Charles Tetrick, Alfred Laser, Vernon Lutz, Dave Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Heisler, Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Turner and daughther Linda of Cleveland.

Kenneth Heisler flew Kenny Koontz of Mansfield and Bud Roth of Shelby to Jackson, Mich., on Sunday. Robert Giesige of Shelby flew to Columbus, Findlay, Bowling Green and return Sunday. Alfred Laser, Robert Jackson and Mark Hellinger flew to Butler, Pa., Youngstown and Cleveland last week. James Ballard flew solo cross-country to Tiffin, Norwalk, and return. Paul Crichton flew to Anderson and Ft. Wayne, Ind., Sunday. Kenneth Heisler flew Kenneth Rothilsberger of Shelby and D. T. Arrow of the Shelby Air Depot on a charter trip to Dayton, Indianapolis and return on Friday.

Mrs. Kenneth Heisler flew to Sandusky to attend the "99" monthly meeting of women pilots of Ohio, which was held at Mrs. Marie Ambus' cottage at Cedar Point. More than 30 women pilots enjoyed swimming, boating and luncheon as guests of Mrs. Ambus. The women pilots flew in from Columbus, Youngstown, Dayton, Akron, Norwalk, Cleveland and surrounding towns.

Millersburg School Board Renews Briegel's Contract

MILLERSBURG—V. J. Briegel, superintendent of the Millersburg-Hardy schools, was given a five-year contract renewal, the board of education announced today.

The Millersburg-Hardy school will open officially Sept. 7 for a half day, Briegel announced. There will be a faculty meeting on Labor day. The schools will open at 8:45 a. m. and be operated on the same schedule as last year.

One vacancy in the teaching staff remains.

The board accepted the resignation of William Hoyman who has served as custodian of the building for the past 25 years.

Holmes county commissioners authorized the transfer of $5,000 from the general fund of the county to the hospital fund. The transfer was necessary to provide the Pomerene Memorial hospital with sufficient operating finances until Dec. 1.

The road grader offered for sale by the county was purchased by Alva Taylor for $1,352. His was the highest bid.

The commissioners accepted the approximate estimate submitted by Karl Snyder, county engineer, for building a concrete road culvert on township road 353 in Prairie township. The estimated cost is approximately $800.

Murderous Fiend At Large!

A TRAGEDY of such viciousness as this community has never before experienced has been enacted here, and in the midst of the wave of horror that spread over this north-central Ohio area yesterday afternoon when the bodies of three victims of a ruthless murderer were discovered, there was a feeling that something has been left undone that might have prevented such a frightful crime.

Now there is death—three deaths—to be taken into account as the agencies of law enforcement take up the task of running down and sending to the electric chair the one or more persons who kidnaped and brutally murdered the Ohio State Reformatory farm superintendent, his wife and daughter.

While circumstances naturally tend to turn suspicion to former inmates of the reformatory, with enmity as a motive, the whole tragic occurrence savors strongly of an extreme of criminal viciousness not ordinarily reached by those whose offenses are punishable by sentence to this institution.

Whether or not this atrocity is associated with other crimes of similar character that have been perpetrated elsewhere in the state, and whatever future developments may be, we have here a dreadful occurrence that serves to reveal dangers connected with permitting known criminals to roam at large, because of inadequate segregation facilities, and—sometimes—because of unwarranted leniency on the part of parole authorities and officials vested with pardoning power.

Recognizing that minor offenses, even some of the law violations attributed to "juvenile delinquency," frequently lead to what are classed as "major crimes," the stark tragedy that has now visited this community may well have an awakening influence upon all the people who have felt inclined to accept things as they are, without realization that bad conditions, if permitted to continue, become worse, not better.

Why Raid Two Gambling Places?

SITTING in the municipal court room yesterday morning, on the solemn occasion of the arraignment of sixteen men who had been arrested the night before on gambling charges, an observer could scarcely avoid wondering how it came about that two particular places located in what has long been known as "the flats" area were raided by police and fines imposed on operators, dealers, players and "loiterers," while other equally illegal gambling places have been left undisturbed since Police Chief Schwab's "permanent" gambling ban was lifted at the end of March, after having been in effect two months.

Surely it is not that Mayor Vaughn's "administration policy" in regard to illegal gambling has established some zones in which officers are instructed to enforce anti-gambling laws and others in which the same laws are to be ignored.

The Main street on which these arrests were made is the same Main street on which other equally illegal gambling is permitted to operate day after day without police interference—the same Main street, in fact, on which the wide open operation of a horse race bookie has again been given the appearance of police sanction after having been closed for the couple of months covered by the February-March ban on all commercialized gambling in Mansfield.

As nearly as can be learned from a careful study of Ohio laws and local ordinances against gambling, there are no exceptions in such matters as location, race, nationality, social standing, and the like.

Any such differentiation must be made by law enforcement officials in accord with administration policy—and it seems quite reasonable to conclude that confessed keepers of gambling places in "the flats" felt that they were as much entitled to operate as were the equally illegal uptown places.

If there is a "fix" necessary in gaining assurance against police annoyance while gambling is going on it seems only fair that the two operators who were subjected to fines of $100 each, yesterday, should be told WHO TO SEE. Mayor Vaughn, as chief executive of the city, would naturally be the first one of whom to make inquiry.

Recognition of Greatness

THE 1948 Freedom House plaque will be awarded to Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg. Announcement of the award cites Mr. Vandenberg as being above involvement in party politics in his work as president of the Senate, chairman of its foreign relations committee, and in the assembly of the United Nations.

It is encouraging that America has such leaders, men who can ignore partisanship and personal ambition to attain what they think is best for their country.

It is explained that: "Olivia de Havilland believes in astrology, because the moon affects tides, and people are 80 per cent water"—which seems to clear the situation very nicely.

Word comes that a native of Bulgaria has just passed away at the age of 121—but even that wasn't long enough to learn the answer to the Balkan question.

What Some Other People Are Saying

CHAIRMAN EATON (R-NJ) of the House foreign affairs committee: "If President Truman's message to Congress is only concerned with domestic matters he will be missing the supreme issue facing not only the United States but the world."

* * *

KLEMENT GOTTWALD, Czechoslovakia's communist president: "There will be no war. The Soviet Union won't conduct an aggressive war and will not allow itself to be provoked."

* * *

SEN. WHERRY (R-Neb), acting majority leader: "Any proposal for partial price controls would be ineffective. You can't control prices unless you control everything, including wages."

Isn't Any One Watching Junior?

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Question: 'What Brought on Inflation?'

IN THE special session of Congress, inflation will be the toughest problem for the Republicans to meet. They cannot meet it by passing legislation. They cannot pass the anti-inflation legislation which Truman wants, without repudiating their own stand in July, 1946, and in December, 1947.

And even if they passed Truman price controls, they could not provide relief before election. Their own remedies, set forth in the Republican platform, are good ones. But they cannot be applied until a Republican gets into the White House.

The best the Republicans can do is to try an educational campaign outside Congress and reveal to the voters the fact that the Truman administration is the real maker of inflation and that as long as it is in power there can be no relief.

Price controls in peacetime cannot be effective in the United States. The real ways to control inflation are matters of long-term policy. They include the reduction of government costs, the stimulation of production, stable currency, reduction of the debt and more efficient spending of what is collected in taxes.

It is easy to see that these attacks on inflation cannot effectively be applied until the Republicans gain complete control of both legislative and executive branches of government.

This is true because the Truman administration has deliberately followed policies which have for two years increased the volume and danger of inflation.

* * *

Misleading Predictions.

THE administration of the old price controls, before they died two years ago, encouraged a gigantic system of black markets. When Congress — and remember, it was a Democratic Congress—two years ago presented the President with a price-control bill, he chose to let price controls die on July 1st and re-instated a worse plan on July 21st.

This worked so badly that the 79th Congress scrapped the whole system of controls less than three months later. The administration has through its policies encouraged wage increases in successive waves. But most of all, it has so encouraged the rise in agricultural prices that no means could be found now to repair the damage.

From September 1947 to the end of the year, the Truman administration promoted one of the greatest grain price booms in history. It did it by issuing scare statements about dire world shortages ahead, which of course had the effect of encouraging speculators and needy buyers to rush into the market.

It did it by a gross underestimate of the grain crop abroad—a mistake which it had to acknowledge early in February of this year.

It did it by predicting a meat famine in the spring of this year—a famine which did not materialize. It did it by crying out about the use of grain by distilleries, saying that "grain is in short supply."

Before May of this year, the department of agriculture underestimated the supply of hogs. Despite the prospects of a bumper corn crop, the department continues to anticipate higher meat prices for as long as a year.

And yet, with a fine grain crop, poultry will be much more plentiful this fall, hogs will be of higher weight and more high-quality beef will be available.

All these are only a few of the facts which might be assembled by Republicans in answer to the charge that they are the prime makers of inflation.

Judge Upholds 'Rights'

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — The current attempt of some elements in the South to break away from President Truman and split the Democratic party in its traditional stronghold finds the South, itself, splitting in turn into groups to set up a counter-rebellion against the self-appointed state righters.

This is helpful, in its way, because it shows dramatically that the whole South can not be herded together under the Confederate flag. This resistance to the anti-Truman movement springs from various motives—personal conviction, awareness that the Civil war is over, and in some cases is dictated by practical political considerations.

A symbol is the South Carolina federal judge, J. Waties Waring of an old Charleston family who, even while the southerners were rebelling at the Philadelphia convention against the Truman civil rights program, was declaring calmly from the bench that no subterfuges could be used by South Carolina Democratic party officials to keep Negroes from voting in party primary elections.

He announced bluntly that anybody who violated his decision would be jailed for contempt.

To the Negro standing before him who had brought a case against discrimination, he said: "It's a disgrace and a shame when you must come into court and ask a judge to tell you you are an American."

Those words might well become historic.

There are many people all over the South who look upon extension of the franchise as a primary civil right that must be granted to make the South and its politics truly democratic. The judge was merely backing up the United States Supreme Court in its outlawry of the "white primary" and the Supreme Court was only upholding the Constitution.

* * *

South Is Also Divided.

THE South Carolina Democratic party, like some in other southern states, has used all sorts of devices to evade the dictum of the Supreme Court against the "white primary." It was a decision by Judge Waring some months ago against such a dodge that was sustained by the Supreme Court.

But the Democratic party in South Carolina cooked up another by requiring Negroes to take an oath upholding segregation before they could vote. It was this against which Judge Waring struck the other day, and the chairman of the state Democratic executive committee subsequently directed that his order be fully carried out. That looks like progress.

Significantly an element of the South Carolina Democratic party composed of upstate farmers and mill-workers came forward recently in defense of Negro voting.

This recalls an often forgotten chapter in politics of the South which was an alliance after the Civil war of the same sort of elements with Negroes in a common front to improve their economic welfare. That alliance was destroyed during the Populist era in the South, when it became effective politically, by appeals to prejudice and institution of the "white primary" to deny Negroes the vote. Its revival today, despite similar appeals to prejudice, is a hopeful sign.

It is interesting that it happens in the state which led the way to secession in the Sixties, and the state which has provided, in Governor J. Strom Thurmond, the presidential candidate of the new Confederate movement organized at Birmingham. This alliance may impede Governor Thurmond in lining up his state electors against President Truman.

It bespeaks the ferment all over the South today out of which may come something not anticipated by the Birmingham revolutionaries. For other elements in the South will refuse to go along with this rump rebellion, including church groups, labor groups, and independent citizens who are working quietly in behalf of extension of civil rights.

But the most effective deterrent perhaps is plain practical politics.

Over-Time Diners to Pay.

The Boston restaurant proprietor who plans to charge diners for overtime spent lingering at his tables will have lots of would-be imitators in the trade, though possibly few with the nerve to go through with it.

Lingering over the dining table is a fine, leisurely custom, good for the digestion and the elsewhere-waning art of conversation. Bad as it is for business and for tablecloths, where conversation must be supplemented by penciled figures and illustrations, it is not something the average restaurateur will lightly discourage.—Detroit News.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Swope Hands Hint To Dixie Democrats

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Herbert Bayard Swope, editor of the old New York World, has some backhanded advice for Dixie Democrats who consider bolting Truman in the electoral college.

Swope, chosen for the electoral college from New York in 1936, tells how the electors met in a lavishly draped room, reminiscent of early Grecian meeting places. Each elector had an embossed and engraved ballot to be deposited in a Grecian urn. An air of great solemnity pervaded the gathering.

In the middle of this impressive ceremony, Swope suddenly turned to Democratic Governor Herbert Lehman.

"I think I'll use this opportunity to go down in history," he remarked. "I'll cast my vote for Herbert Hoover. It has never happened before. If I do it here, my place will be secure in the history books."

The humorless Lehman nearly fainted. Beckoning to Ed Flynn, then secretary of state of New York and head of the New York electors, he warned:

"Ed, Swope here is about to do something terrible. You have got to prevent it at all costs. He is going to cast his vote for Hoover."

"Who is to say that I can't?" replied Swope, basking gayly in the pleasure of the prospect of making history. "What law will I be defying? Am I not a duly elected elector? It is my right as a duly elected elector to vote as I see fit."

"Relax, Herbert," Flynn told Governor Lehman. "He can vote any way he wants. But don't worry. If he votes for Hoover, I won't count it."

Foster Father Wants Help.

ATTORNEY GENERAL Tom Clark is looking for 300 part-time fathers to help take care of his wayward boys.

No ordinary job of baby sitting, Clark's idea is to give each kid at the federal reformatory a sponsor, thus help to guide the boys back on the straight-and-narrow.

Clark has some 350 kids under his wing—all convicted of federal offenses and serving time at Washington's national training school for boys. He has taken a personal interest in their cases, but can't give individual attention to each boy—although he will listen to anyone complaining of a "bum rap."

For a closer, heart-to-heart approach, Clark is trying to recruit individual sponsors. Since he worked out the idea two months ago, he has already rounded up 70 foster fathers through civic organizations.

Each is responsible for one boy, must visit the boy at least twice a month and take him on an outing once a month. It is up to the sponsor to bring his charge back into society, first, by teaching; then by working for his parole; and finally, by finding him a job in a proper environment.

The attorney general also has appealed to several exclusive boys' schools to take in boys from the reformatory on scholarships. The plan is to withhold their identity, but give them the same break as boys who come from more fortunate environments.

The first youngster to enter such a school under this plan is now receiving private tutorship at the reformatory, and will be quietly admitted to the school this autumn.

Note: Largely because of improper training at reformatories, three-fourths of America's criminals started out as juvenile delinquents and stuck to crime.

Setting Session Stage

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — It looks like one thing is certain—there's going to be plenty of confusion around Washington this summer.

There were plenty of indications of it even before the President issued his call for a special session of Congress. Now everything's been doubled and redoubled, in spades!

At the moment, neither party seems to have its strategy quite straightened out, and from all the signs the special session will be pretty well underway before the boys get together.

Yesterday, for instance, there was some talk around Democratic national headquarters that the President might mix up all the semi-mutual points of the Democratic and Republican platforms and toss them at Congress in one package. The theory was that he would make a purported bi-partisan (now quit your grinning!) speech urging the passage of all this legislation to meet the various domestic crises.

But no sooner does this guy from Demo headquarters get through making the foregoing prediction when along comes a character from the White House and says it's not going to be that way. He allows as how the President is going to break both platforms up into separate planks and then present each issue to Congress by individual messages.

"This way," the lad said, "there'll be no confusion over what the issue is. Taking them one at a time that way, the people will know exactly what's being voted on—and it won't be so easy to fool them."

"Also," interjected a cynical scribe, "it will give the President just that more newspaper space and free radio time—an item not to be overlooked during election year!"

* * *

Just Like In Bowling.

IN THE hubbub that followed such heresy, I wandered over to talk to some Republicans. Informed of the Democratic discussion, one senator said:

"It won't make any difference whether he brings them out one at a time or all together. It's like bowling. If there's just one pin setting up there, you knock it down. If they're all up, you roll a strike and knock 'em all down. If you miss, you still pick up what's left with a spare!"

But a Republican member of Congress disagreed completely.

"This never has been an obstructionist Congress, despite what the Democrats say," he argued, "and it won't be one this time. If the legislation involving the planks in the Republican platform is properly presented and properly phrased, we'd just as soon pass it before election—then the people would know we meant what we said at Philadelphia."

It was pointed out that that business about proper presentation and proper phrasing could cover a lot of obstruction, but he refused to admit that it might be used for GOP trickery.

"As a matter of fact," he said, a small gleam appearing in his eye, "if the President wants a strong civil rights bill passed, we Republicans will be perfectly happy to vote for it. However," he added sadly, "I've heard some of the Democrats may try to, er, obstruct it."

Some Democrats still weren't quite convinced that the special session was such a good idea, although the majority said they thought it was the only thing.

The Nation Today

Peace and Jeremiah

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—". . . Peace, peace, there shall be no peace. . . ."

The prophet Jeremiah said that about 2,600 years ago.

It is almost three years now since Japan surrendered and World War II ended.

The enemy then was Nazi Germany and Japan. Russia was still our ally. Communism still was pretty much dammed up inside Russia.

And where are we now, three years later? Quiet, are we? Are we comfortable now, in the rocking-chair of peace?

Communism has spilled over the Russian frontier, leaked through the cracks of eastern Europe, is lapping hungrily at the borders of western Europe.

The story that follows is made up entirely of paragraphs from Associated Press stories picked off the front pages of Washington newspapers.

The shy, tender, nervous Jeremiah would have understood them well. Here they are:

WASHINGTON — President Truman today issued a proclamation calling for the draft registration to start Aug. 30. On that date persons born in 1922 after Aug. 30 will register.

BERLIN — British authorities sent a "very strong protest" today to the Soviet military administration of Berlin against the flight of a formation of Russian yak fighters yesterday over Gatow airport.

THE HAGUE—Leaders of the five western European nations here viewed the Berlin crisis as "extremely grave" and advised utmost caution in dealing with the Russians.

ATHENS—The Greek general staff said today that guerillas blew up a train in Thrace, killing 14 women and wounding six. . . . In western Macedonia 46 rebels were killed and 15 captured. Army losses were listed as 17 dead and 92 wounded. . . .

FRANKFURT — Gen. Lucius Clay, American commander in Germany, was summoned to Washington to report on the Berlin crisis.

BERLIN—With great propaganda fanfare the Russians announced today that they were prepared to supply food for all Berlin, including the 2,000,000 German inhabitants of the western sectors whom they have blockaded for more than a month.

PARIS—Communists proposed today that their leaders, Maurice Thorez, be designated the new French premier to head a coalition government of socialists and communists.

NEW YORK—Twelve U. S. Communist party leaders and members were indicted today on charges of advocating the overthrow of the United States government.

CAIRO — Jewish sources in Haifa said today that fighting (with Arabs) still was going on in northern Palestine on the third day of the truce imposed by the United Nations. A main Cairo thoroughfare was blasted last night when a single unidentified plane raided the Egyptian capital.

TRENTON, N. J.—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll today ordered the reactivation of the entire New Jersey civilian defense program. He said the wartime program would be set up on a "standby basis" under the direction of the state department of defense.

Farmer's Diary

Sulfa For a Sick Cow

By CALVIN A. BYERS

OUR best cow pushed through a barbed-wire fence and tore her udder and a teat. The gashes looked bad, and the oldest boy, when he had milked, salved the wounds and poured the milk into the pig trough. After two days of this, the matter was called to my attention.

The cow looked sick. Her eyes were bloodshot, her manner languid, she refused her feed. I called in the veterinarian—who has just returned to the village after a long vacation trip to the far west. "Bad infection," he said, and ladled out nearly a pint of sulfa tablets as big as the end of my thumb.

"Seven tablets, in a little water, and drench her twice a day." The young boys stood by and watched him demonstrate the drenching process. Having no bottle big enough, they went to the nearest filling station and brought back a bottle of ginger ale.

Next day they took considerable interest in doctoring the cow—one boy, with an arm around her nose, and a hand in her mouth, the other tipping the big green bottle so that the dissolved sulfa ran down her throat.

They bathed her wounds with a disinfectant, and salved them with sulfa and glycerine. They tied her in the barn overnight, keeping her out of the wet grass.

The milk glands had swollen, the canals were the size of ropes. Two bad spots were draining. We feared to lose the cow, or at least half the udder.

Bossy seemed to understand that we were trying to help her. The bloodshot eyes became glazed and brownish, but she began to eat again.

After a day or two, the novelty of playing doctor wore off. Giving medicine became a chore after every boy had had his try. It took nearly a week before we stopped giving the tablets, and the cow showed definite improvement. It is doubtful if she will recover her flow of milk.

Barbed wire is dangerous. Even a scratch should be taken in time. A farm is a risky place. Accidents do happen. An able veterinarian can do immeasurable service in any rural community. There are not enough of them around the country.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"Officer, have your horse kick me, please. . . . I just bought a hat I couldn't afford!"

As Cerf Tells It

Sid Skolsky reports that a surprised Hollywood resident ran smack into a burglar piling the family plate into his burlap bag. "Well, well," exclaimed the resident, "I hope you'll stay long enough for me to fetch my wife. She's certain she's heard you in the middle of every night for the past ten years, and I know it'll be a pleasure for her to meet you."

As Others See It

Consoling Thought.

Though Democrats don't see how, it might be worse. Consider the dilemma if the country had not one but five vice presidents, like any up-and-coming building and loan association. — Detroit News.

Abandoned Car Found At Lisbon

Discovery Made After Man Attacked

fore the murders, at about 10:30 p. m. A young man went to the door of the house of Mrs. James Gatton, deputies said, and asked the way to State Route 13. It was a gray car.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said deputies stopped where a car was parked at Five Points; north of Mansfield.

There were two in the car and the one said he was looking at a road map. Robinson said the deputies said the man "looked all right and talked all right" so the deputies did not throw a light on the car.

GREATEST MANHUNT

State highway patrol officials in Columbus described the hunt for the Niebel killers as the greatest manhunt in the middlewest since the day John Dillinger and his gang ran rampart, killing and robbing.

Dillinger eventually was run down and killed as he left a Chicago theater. Two of his confederates died in the Ohio electric chair; another died in a futile effort to escape the death house.

The $5,000 reward offer was approved unanimously by the three commissioners: Guy Stewart, C. L. Shoup and Selby and also by Prosecutor Theodore Lutz.

COMMUNITY SHOCKED

A shocked and saddened community waited hopefully today while state identification bureau officers, the FBI and local law enforcement authorities worked tirelessly toward some clue which would point to the murderers of the reformatory's farm superintendent, his wife, and pretty 2[illegible] year-old daughter.

John W. Selby, chairman of Richland county commissioners, announced early today that he will ask for a reward to be posted for the mad-dog killers who dragged the family from their reformatory property home and shot them down in a cornfield, six miles northeast of the city.

"I am going to do everything I can to get a reward set up for those killers," Selby said.

Officers with the Crime Laboratory, sent here yesterday from London by the state identification bureau, worked most of the night and resumed at daylight again today, seeking prints or other identifying marks the ruthless murderers might have left at the Niebel home.

Reformatory officials said today that "nothing had been coordinated as yet" on any evidence found at the home.

MORE THAN ONE WEAPON

The probability appeared that more than one weapon was used in the triple killing, supporting Sheriff Robinson's theory of "more than one man." The bullet found in Miss Niebel's body was a .25 caliber. That found in Niebel's body was believed to be a .38 caliber.

A .38-caliber revolver was reported missing from the Niebel residence before the bodies were discovered. A shotgun and a .22-caliber rifle also were missing.

Prosecutor Theodore Lutz declared that as yet authorities have no tangible clue to connect the slayings with the mad-dog killing in Columbus July 10 of Earl C. Ambrose, a tavern proprietor.

Robert Murl Daniels, 24, and John Coulter West, 22, have been identified by witnesses as the Ambrose killers. Both are former OSR inmates. West worked on the farm over which Niebel was superintendent; Daniels probably did some duty there.

"But," said Lutz, "I don't have anything to connect the crime with Daniels and West." He added that he was not looking for any specific persons, "as yet," but when asked what he meant by "yet," and whether he meant he might be looking for specific persons soon, he replied "not necessarily."

WEST PAROLED IN APRIL

Daniels was received at the Reformatory on Jan. 28, 1944, to serve a one- to 25-year term for robbery in Pike county. He was paroled Sept. 25, 1947.

West was received Jan. 16, 1947, to serve a one- to seven-year term for grand larceny from Summit county. He was paroled April 1, 1948.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said the Ohio mobile crime laboratory staff obtained a number of fingerprints throughout the Niebel residence. They continued their investigation there this morning, checking prints discovered in the house with those of members of the Niebel family and with men discharged from the Reformatory during the last eight months. The sheriff asked OSR officials to supply a complete list of all parolees for the last six months.

However, experts from the state bureau of criminal identification after preliminary dusting were unable to obtain clear fingerprints of the killers, only smudges. They said the killers "evidently" wore gloves.

EX-INMATES SUSPECTED

Sheriff Robinson held to the theory that former OSR inmates were the most likely perpetrators of the fiendish crime.

"Somebody must have hated that man awfully bad," the sheriff commented. "I don't see how it could have been anybody else."

Sheriff Robinson disclosed that $11 was found in the daughter's purse when it was discovered on a table in the dining room. Some change was still in Mrs. Niebel's purse.

He held to the belief that at least two men were involved, contending that one man would not have been able to subdue all three members of the family.

AUTO SEEN AT 1 A. M.

The sheriff obtained from a man who asked that his name be withheld the information that he had seen an automobile, light grey or green, near the Niebel residence about 1 a. m. Wednesday. A man was on the road nearby.

About 20 minutes later, the sheriff was told, another man also saw the automobile, which had no rear license plates. No one was near the car at that time.

George Allarding, assistant superintendent at the reformatory, discounted any possibility that the infamous act could have been committed by a present inmate at the prison.

He said that about 250 inmates sleep outside the walls at the farm dormitory, but that a check is made every half hour throughout the night and that the check "was perfectly OK all night long."

CLASH DENIED

"It's definitely an outside job. No boy at the reformatory could have got out long enough between checks," he asserted.

He also denied knowledge of a rumored clash Niebel had had with an inmate on the farm Tuesday.

Any instances of use of force on an inmate by an officer is always reported. Niebel reported no instance to me," he said.

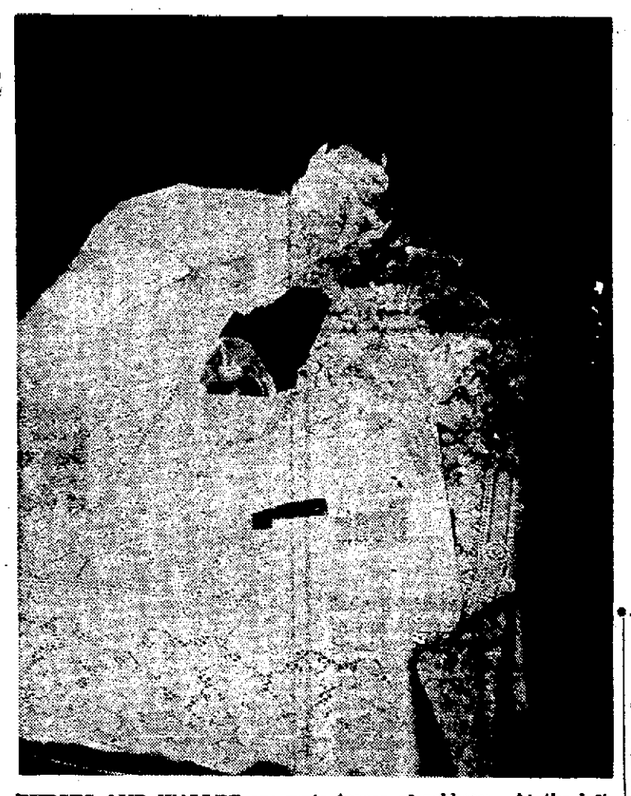
The rumor, circulated among the crowd which gathered at the Niebel house early yesterday, was that the farm superintendent had "roughed up one of the boys."

An official description of the car driven by West and Daniels, former inmates of the reformatory and wanted for the Ambrose murder in Columbus, is as follows: a light colored Pontiac with a green top, with license plate on the rear of the car missing. The description is the same as given by Lowell Snyder, a neighbor of the Niebels, who saw a car in the Niebel driveway about 1:30 a. m. yesterday.

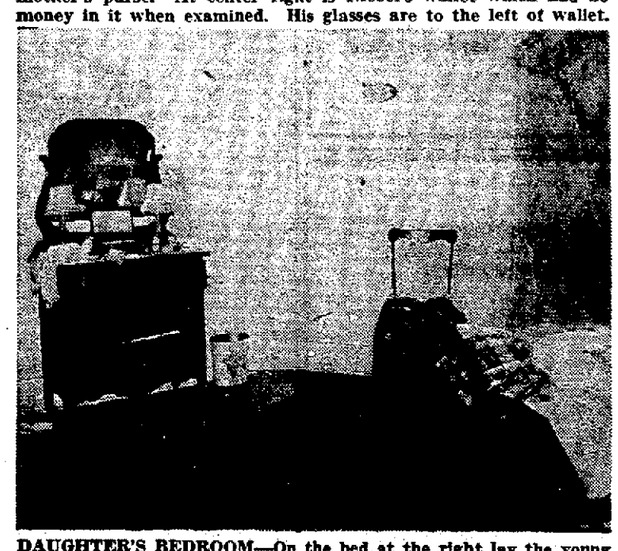
SCENE OF KIDNAPING—The Niebel home, part of the 1,600-acre state farm adjacent to the Ohio State Reformatory, was found empty early Wednesday morning by Assistant Superintendent George Allarding and Dr. John V. Horst, who had called to see if Niebel was ill. The beautifully kept grounds surround the house which had been found with both front and rear doors open.

THE BODY of Mrs. Niebel is removed from the field by employes of the Jones Memorial and Prosecuting Attorney Lutz, second from left at rear.

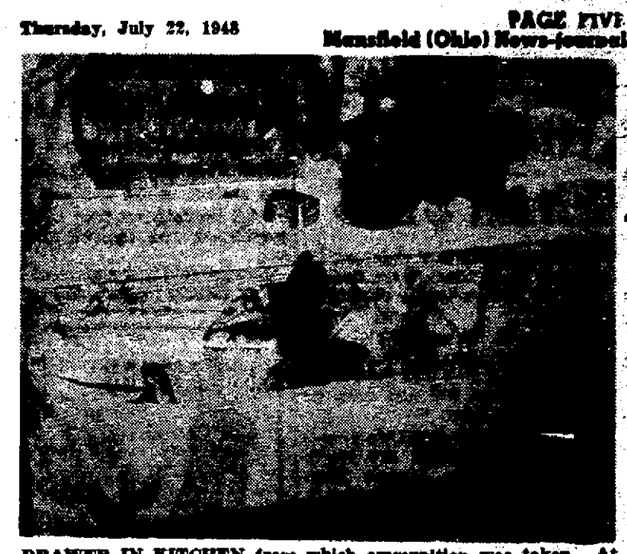
The FIRST BODY is placed in the waiting ambulance. Mrs. Niebel was closest to the road and was carried out first in a zipper covered remains bag. She had been shot twice, once in the top of the head and again in the abdomen. She also had an abrasion across the temple from a sharp instrument.



PURSES AND WALLET are mute traces of robbery. At the left is the daughter's purse with a comb and sales slip on the dining room table. At far center partially covered by a dress is the mother's purse. At center right is Niebel's wallet which had no money in it when examined. His glasses are to the left of wallet.



DAUGHTER'S BEDROOM—On the bed at the right lay the young girl's house coat. On the chair against the wall is her clothing including her dress and undergarments. In the corner of the room are her shoes and stockings. The dresser on the left had been searched and the top right hand drawer and bottom drawer remain open as they were found by investigators.



DRAWER IN KITCHEN from which ammunition was taken. At the extreme right front corner of the drawer where Niebel kept shotgun shells and cartridges for .22 cal. rifle and .38 cal. revolver.

Brutal Murder Baffles Grief-Stricken Son

thing out of the ordinary," he added.

The grieving son struggled visibly for self-control as he talked, and his wife, Mrs. Mabel Holmes Niebel, patted his shoulder but tears came to his eyes as he continued:

"He always was a lenient and understanding father to us, he was never harsh and I'm sure he wouldn't have been harsh to Reformatory inmates.

CLAIMS REVENGE

"It must have been revenge, though. None of their jewelry was missing. My sister still wore her wrist watch and my father his Masonic ring when they found them.

"Mother had a wedding band, but I don't know whether it still was on her finger. But I presume so, since the other things were not taken."

Loyal Niebel added that he knew of no other happening or circumstance in the lives of either of his parents or of his sister which might possibly account for a motive to such a tragic crime as struck the Niebel household.

Today, both officials and employes of the Ohio Textile Products company where the pretty Phyllis worked were lonely for her friendliness and laughter. C. S. Lake, president of the company, said of the young girl:

"She had the most happy disposition of any girl who ever worked in this office. Everyone really loved her. And she was an excellent worker. I really can't say enough about her.

"We were concerned yesterday morning when she didn't come in. She was never late."

Miss Niebel began working for the company on Oct. 8, 1945, shortly after graduation from Madison high school in the spring of that year. Her position was billing clerk.

Olan LaRue, superintendent of Madison high school said the girl's school records showed she was born on Aug. 9, 1927 in Richland county. LaRue said Phyllis had shown interest in music and athletics at the high school.

STILL IN CURLS

Phyllis' golden-red hair was still in pin curls when her nude body was discovered close by the bodies of her mother and father between the corn rows on the R. B. Gardner farm. Small barefoot prints, presumably the girl's, were found pressed into the soft earth between the head-high stalks indicating the girl was marched to her death.

The father also was barefoot. The mother wore low-heeled white sling-pump sport shoes.

Today, responsibility of setting up arrangements for funeral services for the murdered family of three, rested on the shoulders of Loyal Niebel, a son, until another brother, Russell of Chicago arrives.

Russell, 22, did not learn of the deaths of his parents and sister until hours after their bodies were discovered. A Navy veteran, he left Mansfield two years ago to attend the American Television school in Chicago. He is married to a former WAVE and has an 18-months-old child. He was told of the murders by Chicago Tribune reporters and is reported coming here by train.

PRAISES NIEBEL

Supt. Arthur Glattke, contacted at Cleveland where he was undergoing a physical checkup at a clinic, said he was mystified by the triple slaying.

"Niebel was a very valuable officer; one of our finest," Glattke said. "I wouldn't know anyone who would harbor resentment against him. On the other hand, they may have asked him to do something he refused to do."

O. F. Garver, former assistant superintendent at the reformatory, said he understood that Niebel was "pretty well liked" by the reformatory inmates and that he was "fair but firm."

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER

Although Phyllis Niebel was a shy person, she had been unusually active in Bible school work at the First Christian church and the Eastern Star and Naomi Shrine lodge organizations. She was a teacher in the First Christian Sunday school and she and her parents, both of whom were members of the church, attended services regularly.

Mrs. Niebel, 51, was also a member of the OES. Phyllis, a graduate of Madison high school with the class of 1945, was also active in 4-H club work.

Mr. and Mrs. Niebel are survived by their two sons, Loyal, a resident of Five Points North, and an employe of the Mansfield Radio and Hobby shop, and Russell, a television installation man in Chicago; four grandchildren, Loyal Edwin jr., Elwyn Curtis and Duane Adaire Niebel, children of Loyal Niebel, and Vickie Lee Niebel, daughter of Russell Niebel.

LEAVES 3 BROTHERS

Besides his immediate family, Mr. Niebel, 50, is survived by three brothers, David C. Niebel of Mansfield, Raymond G. Niebel of Grafton and Hugh Niebel of Utica; two sisters, Mrs. Benjamin Harris of Martinsburg and Mrs. William Quick of Centerburg.

Mrs. Niebel is survived by two brothers, Dean Parrish of Mansfield and Novella Parrish of Newark.

Mr. Niebel was born in Knox County, June 18, 1898. Mrs. Niebel was born in Licking county Nov. 25, 1896. Phyllis Irene Niebel was born in Knox county, Aug. 9, 1927.

Private funeral services will be held Friday at 3 p. m. at the Jones Memorial with Rev. Ben F. Hagelbarger, pastor of the First Christian church officiating. Officers of the Venus lodge, of which Mr. Niebel was senior deacon, and of the Eastern Star, of which Mrs. Niebel was a member, will speak briefly

Pallbearers for Mr. Niebel will include officials of the Ohio State Reformatory. Those for Mrs. Niebel will be members of the First Christian church and for the daughter, Phyllis, members of the Venus lodge and Eastern Star.

Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Area Veterans Show Increasing Interest In GI Benefits

Protection Of Families Prime Aim

New Quarters Aid VA Office Work

By DWYER CLAY

Mansfield area World War II veterans are beginning to start their life anew almost three years after the war.

Interested in protection for their families and themselvs, more veterans are seeking information on service life insurance and hospitalization benefits offered through the Veterans Administration under the G. I. bill.

Mansfield veterans are fortunate to have an adequately staffed and equipped VA which takes a personal interest in every case that comes before them.

G. D. Weidemaier, manager of the Mansfield VA office, feels that his dream has been realized with every one of the VA services activated.

"Decided progress for the office and for the assistance offered the veterans is evident with an increase both in service and facilities over that which the original cramped quarters in the Walpark building two years ago offered," Weidemaier asserts.

INTEREST CHANGES

A year ago at this time veterans were primarily interested in enrolling in educational institutions and requesting on-the-job training benefits.

Today veterans realize in some cases that the injury they received during service that didn't bother them too much at time of discharge is occasionally keeping them from work.

Now they are better acquainted with their economic standing and know what insurance they want, need and can comfortably afford.

Interviews concerning G. I. benefits that a year ago took 10 to 15 minutes now require 45 minutes to one hour.

Th majority of World War II veterans now know that they are all entitled to hospitalization but that service-incurred injuries and illness have priority over recently acquired ailments.

WORK WITH RED CROSS

Veterans in the surrounding area have had contact with the VA office which is working in cooperation with the Red Cross and city service agencies and officers.

A veteran who is receiving compensation payments for a service-incurred injury is periodically given an examination by the authority of the Cleveland regional VA office to determine his progress.

When examined by the Mansfield VA medical officer, after filing his claim through the Mansfield office to the regional office, the veteran receives a complete clinical physical examination.

"In some cases the injury or illness for which compensation payments are being made, are reported cured," Dr. Bruce Sutton, VA medical officer, said. "In other cases new ailments, some service incurred and others activated since discharge from the service, are discovered."

COMPLETELY EQUIPPED

The VA clinic is completely equipped to examine and diagnose almost any ailment with modern X-ray, fluoroscope, heart, ears, eyes, nose and throat equipment.

The examinations of area veterans on a part-time basis by the Mansfield sub-regional VA office potentially keeps 10 per cent of the city's population under medical surveillance.

Through medical and dental examinations at the Mansfield VA clinic during the past year, 1,250 veterans have received outside treatment by their own doctors and doctors recommended by the VA at government expense.

Present examinations for claims filed by veterans for outside treatment are practically current and show wonderful progress for the Mansfield Veterans Administration, which has been located on Park avenue west for less than one year.

Dr. George M. Waddell, senior VA dental officer in charge of the dental examinations before outside treatment, states that all veterans are entitled to dental treatment on teeth treated by service dentists during the veteran's time in service.

MUST GET RATING

Before a veteran can receive dental examination or treatment he must have been granted a dental rating from his service dental record by the Cleveland VA regional office.

He may then select his own dentist provided that the dentist is a VA participating dentist under the Ohio State Dental society.

Veterans are finally realizing the benefits offered by the VA Insurance department in assisting the min selecting the proper policies and terms that will not become a burden to them in later years.

J. C. Fuller, VA insurance adjustment head, warns of the deadline for the reinstatement of veterans' National Service Life Insurance. The opportunity for reinstatement will end July 31 and cannot be extended unless Congress amends the law.

MAY RENEW POLICIES

Veterans carrying National Service Life Insurance term policies will be able to renew them for an additional five years upon expiration of the present term period under a recent congressional amendment.

Term insurance taken out before Jan. 1, 1946, carries a term period of eight years from date of issue. Policies issued after that date are for a five year term.

Prior to the new amendment it would have been necessary for veterans to convert their policies to one of the six available permanent forms before the end of their term period, or their insurance would have expired. Now they may renew for another five-year term at the premium rate applicable at the time of renewal.

C. A. Swain, VA acting chief of vocation, rehabilitation and education, claims that although veterans are taking an increased interest in their insurance and hospitalization benefits under the G. I. bill, many others are still enrolling in educational institutions and applying for on-the-job training.

Coke Output Goes Higher

WASHINGTON —(AP)— U. S. coke production increased 26 per cent during 1947, the bureau of mines said today.

The total was 73,445,850 tons worth $776,405,520.

"The beehive segment of the industry staged a remarkable comeback in 1947 with a 46 per cent rise in production," the bureau said.

Production from beehive ovens totaled 6,687,301 tons valued at $65,305,111. Coke ovens produced 66,758,549 tons worth $711,100,409.

The coal carbonized in 1947 totaled 105,061,864 tons — almost equal to the 1944 record—and cost $687,593,060.

Nearly 79 per cent of the coke distributed in 1947, the bureau said, went to iron blast furnaces. Six per cent was earmarked for the manufacture of producer gas and water gas. Only five per cent was available for domestic or household use, the lowest tonnage in 22 years—"clearly illustrating the terrific demand for industrial coke," the bureau said.

Army Enlists 18-Year-Olds

The Mansfield U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station received authorization Wednesday to enlist for 12 months service 18-year-old youths who have not reached their nineteenth birthdays, Capt. Robert L. Pine, recruiting officer, announced today.

"The men must meet the regular enlistment requirements of mental and physical aptitude and after completion of their one-year training become members of the U. S. Army active reserve component for six years," Capt. Pine said.

"In the active reserve component the men will report for training once each week and will report for one month camping trips each year," he added.

The U. S. Army's 18-year-old enlistment program authorizes the enlistment of 110,000 men who will fill the required complement.

Dollar bills earn no interest unless invested. U. S. Savings Bonds supply that interest.

It's the first and only low-priced car with the enviable Body by Fisher. It's the first and only low-priced car with the triple safety-protection of Fisher Unisteel Body-Construction, the Unitized Knee-Action Ride and Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes.

And yet, despite the fact that CHEVROLET AND ONLY CHEVROLET IS FIRST to offer all these major advancements of low-cost motoring, it holds an even greater price-advantage and gives you even more value for your dollars in comparison with other automobiles today than at any previous time in Chevrolet history!

That is why more people are buying Chevrolets than any other make of car, this year as for the total 17-year period, 1931 to date; that is why they are agreeing, with ever-mounting enthusiasm, that Chevrolet is first in dollar-value as it is first in nation-wide demand.

About Women

MARY FRANCES WINN WED TO KERMIT BLAKE STARR

Nuptials Solemnized July 18 In Church Rite; Couple to Live In Georgia.

OF INTEREST in Mansfield is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mary Frances Winn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Winn, 24 Park avenue, Shelby, and Kermit Blake Starr, former Mansfielder, son of Mrs. Hazel Starr, Belle Valley, Ohio. The couple was wed July 18 at 2 p. m. at the Evangelical and Reformed church, Shelby.

Rev. Harland J. Miller officiated for the ceremony performed before an altar decorated with baskets of white glads and baby's breath.

Both young people are former employes of the Mansfield News-Journal.

Preceding the service a program of nuptial music was played by Miss Barbara Hassler.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding ensemble a white linen dress with white hat and accessories. Her corsage was of red roses and white carnations.

Maid of honor was Miss Hazel Winn, sister of the bride, who was attired in a light blue two-piece linen dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow and white carnations.

Mrs. Winn wore a pink and white frock with white accessories and a corsage of carnations. Mrs. Starr chose a brown and white two-piece suit with white accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations.

Myron C. Starr of Belle Valley, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Richard Snider of Shelby and Dewey Ford of Shelby, close friends of the couple.

Following the ceremony thirty-six guests were received at a reception at the Winn home. Later in the day the couple left for a trip through the south. For traveling the bride wore an aqua suit with white accessories and her bridal corsage. Following their trip they will make their home in Atlanta, Ga.

Old-fashioned deviled eggs are as popular on picnics today as they ever were. Give them a new-fangled look this year. When you're making the stuffing, combine the yolks with sliced ripe olives and plenty of seasonings.

After the whites are refilled put two together to form a whole egg and then wrap in a lettuce leaf. Fasten with a toothpick and your salad is ready.

Laughbaum-Sell Nuptials Held In Methodist Church, Shelby

MISS WANDA JANE LAUGHBAUM, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Laughbaum, 23 South Gamble street, Shelby, and Mr. Charles Richard Sell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sell, 283 Park avenue west, exchanged marriage vows Sunday, July 11, at 2:30 p. m. at the First Methodist church, Shelby, with Dr. J. A. Scott officiating. Two seven-branched candelabra, and baskets of white gladioli made a pretty setting for the wedding.

Mrs. Otto Shoup presided at the organ during the half hour program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony. During the ceremony "The Lord's Prayer" was played softly.

Miss Laughbaum, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely formal wedding gown of white starched marquisette made with a sheer yoke, and high round neckline edged with several wide folds giving a dropped shoulder effect with a wide bertha. The same effect was carried out in the peplum over the hips of the gown under which were still crinoline pads giving the skirt a full bouffant look. The full skirt fell from under the peplum in a wide sweeping train. Detachable gauntlets were worn with the gown. The lovely silk illusion fingertip veil was a double cape effect attached to a Mary of Scot headpiece of silk illusion trimmed at the edge with small pearls. Her flowers were a bouquet of red roses with white roses in the center forming a cross.

Miss Betty Rittenger of Mansfield was maid of honor and wore a yellow formal gown and carried an arm bouquet of blue carnations

Miss Martha Laughbaum, sister of the bride, and Miss Joyce Seif of Tiro, were bridesmaids and wore blue formals and carried yellow carnation arm bouquets.

Best man was James Sell of Mansfield, brother of the bridegroom, and ushers were Floyd Hoover, brother-in-law of the bride, and Ted Doss of Wadsworth, cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a black dress and the bridegroom's mother chose a print dress. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents where bouquets of white gladioli were placed about making an attractive setting. A three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the table at which Mrs. Floyd Hoover and Miss Alice Mae Fried presided.

For a wedding trip to the eastern states and Canada, Mrs. Sell chose a two piece aqua dress trimmed with pink and white, white accessories and a white rose corsage. Upon their return, they will reside temporarily with the bride's parents.

Mrs. Sell graduated with the class of 1948, Shelby high school, and is employed at the Laughbaum Food Market. Mr. Sell attended Mansfield Senior high school, served 17 months in the U. S. Army and is employed at the Richland Printing Co.

Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from Cuyahoga Falls, Wadsworth, Akron, Orrville, Wapakaneta, Kirkersville, Wooster, Cleveland, Findlay, Crestline, Bucyrus and Mansfield.

Missionary Picnic Held

North Lake park was the scene of the picnic held Wednesday noon by the Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church. The program committee were the hostesses for the dinner.

The vice-president, Mrs. Edwin Craig, conducted the general business meeting. Mrs. Charles Shook conducted the devotions.

"Alaska" was the subject of the program given by Miss Marge Stewart. The roll call was answered by scripture verses.

Previous to the general meeting was a prayer meeting conducted by Mrs. A. E. Courtney.

The next meeting will be Aug. 18 at the home of Mrs. Edwin Craig, 643 Bowman street.

Suits Adapt Themselves To Figures

For the first time in many fashion seasons suits are so varied that all figure types will find themselves reflected in the current mode. For you can have as wide a skirt and as tight a jacket as you like or you can have a long, fitted silhouette. Both are approved by the season's top designers.

While the Victorian line of the molded bosom, the definite waistline, softly rounded shoulders and hip interest continues, these factors are modified to such an extent that the tall willowy woman can be as well suited as the short, rotund type.

For your basic suit look for a fitted torso line, a slim skirt with a little flair, and a jacket with back interest. The jacket, however, can range from fingertip length to the waist hugging basque type. Menswear worsted is still tops for the classic suit, and this is the year for various shades of brown and the deep reds. Skirts continue to be about twelve inches from the floor for the average figure, a little less for the junior figure. With an emphasis on collars and hip accent, shoulder lines are important. The new suits have slightly padded shoulders to give a gentle line, since many of the new sleeves are cut in one piece with the bodice.

Latest footnotes have it that we'll be seeing copper or bronze kid, velvet street shoes, black taffeta dancing slippers, and other equally unexpected materials in our footwear. Shoes in contrasting colors are always attractive, but a note of warning to either the too short or too rotund. Footwearr which matches your dress adds an illusion of height to the entire figure.

LeFevre Home Scene of Meet

Members of the Agnes Paulsen Garden club and one guest, Mrs. J. H. Herring, met at the home of Mrs. R. A. LeFevre, 944 Maumee avenue, last evening.

Mrs. Robert Coe, president, was in charge of the business meeting, when the group planned for lessons on flower arranging in the fall.

The program was furnished by Mrs. Frend Boals who gave a paper on "Bulbs and Their Uses." An informal discussion followed.

Lunch was served at the close of the evening.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Jack Shaffer, Brookwood Way, August 4.

Annual Hayride Held By Group

Four new members, Joann Brook, Betty Hutchinson, Roberta Mowry and Joann Russell were initiated Tuesday evening when the Richland Senior 4H club met at the Wolford home for the annual hayride and wiener roast. Ruth Swisher, Patsy Russell, Mary Lou Osbun, and Ann Sir Louis were appointed to plan the program for the next meeting to be held August 17.

Charles Clingan, Mary Lou Osbun and Ann Sir Louis are to plan the fair party to be held at the fair grounds for all the exhibitors on August 20.

Horoscope

For Friday, July 23.
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

THE abrupt and quite uncontemplated intervention of a purely personal episode, or a sudden romantic development of profound, even radical significance, may turn the tide of current events into highly gratifying, progressive and pleasant denouements. The entire picture of recent static and frustrating circumstances may rise on joyous wings of inspired effort of emotional flights. Such glints of joy, with startling achievements or aspirations, may challenge the approval of elders, superiors or employers. Aim to make sound work and worthy purpose mitigate all opposition.

For the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a particular vivid and soul-stirring year, in which the element of romance, gay adventure, perhaps spectacular achievement, may rise to quite dramatic and unpredictable climax. While the emotional and romantic aspects are accented, the creative, inventive and constructive forces and faculties also may operate in the field of rare accomplishment, in which generous and worthwhile support may produce basic and expansive opening for long-range objective and fulfilled desires. This against lack of approval from elders or superiors, whose opposition and ill will must be vanquished. Charm, personality and magnetism are glamorous implements to utilize tactfully.

A child born on this day may be endowed with exceptional qualities of intellect, creative ability, ingenuity and originality. It should have a romantic and adventurous life, despite opposition.

Hocking River Hit By Flash Flood

Thousands Driven From Their Homes

LANCASTER — (U.P.) — Between four and five thousand persons were driven from their homes here early today by a flash flood of the Hocking river.

The Red Cross disaster service said there were no casualties and "everything was under control," although there was several thousand dollars worth of damages. Most of the residents prepared to return to their homes a few hours later.

Kenneth Kerr, Red Cross chief for this area, said the water started rising about 11:30 p. m. EST., and reached its peak about 2:30 a. m.

Red Cross state headquarters in Columbus was alerted shortly after 4:30 a. m., but the call was cancelled within 30 minutes by local authorities.

Kerr said provision was quickly made for the people driven from their homes and they were cared for in the local armory.

He said only one house was damaged extensively by the water but that a bridge over U. S. Route 22 was carried downstream and had not been located yet.

The greatest damage was among fields of corn and wheat outside the town that were flattened by the swift waters.

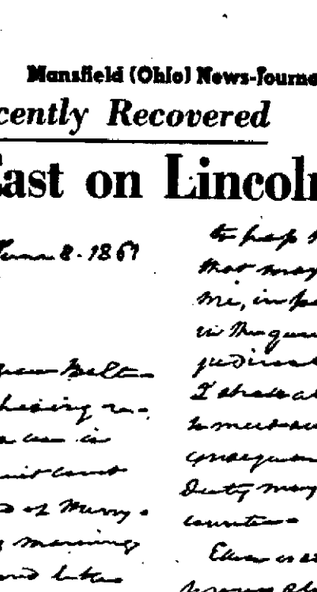
Judge's Letter Recently Recovered

New Light Cast on Lincoln-Taney Feud



THE LETTER—The beginning of Page Two tells of Taney's desire to live "in peace with all men"

By JOHN PETERSEN
(Central Press Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—New light has been thrown on the bitter Civil war controversy between President Abraham Lincoln and the Supreme Court's Chief Justice Roger B. Taney, as the result of the unearthing of a letter heretofore not known to be in existence.

In the public eye, Taney is probably closest associated with his famous Dred Scott decision of 1865 in which he ruled that a slave did not become a citizen because of residence in a free territory and hence did not possess the rights of citizenship and could not sue in a federal court for his freedom.

Historians believe that decision, coming as it did at the height of pre-Civil war hysteria over the slave question, was probably one of the major causes of the war between the states.

Yet the chief justice later handed down another opinion at the outbreak of the war which is today recognized as a milestone in Supreme Court history.

This was the habeas corpus case involving John Merryman, a Baltimore county secessionist who was imprisoned in Ft. McHenry by military order on May 25, 1861.

The fort's commanding officer refused to comply with a writ of habeas corpus issued by Taney on grounds that he had been authorized by President Lincoln to suspend the writ.

As can easily be imagined, Taney didn't exactly endear himself to the cause of the North by writing an opinion that the President had no power to suspend the writ of habeas corpus.

Taney contended that only Congress could suspend the writ.

Although Taney's opinion is generally recognized as being the authority on habeas corpus proceedings today, President Lincoln simply refused to recognize it.

USED ANOTHER GUIDE

He used as his guide, instead, an opinion written by Attorney General Bates, who declared that in time of war the chief executive was empowered to suspend writs of habeas corpus.

Chief Justice Taney died Oct. 12, 1864, amidst the scorn of the war-frenzied masses who undoubtedly pictured him as one of the great villains of the conflict.

However, time and history have a way of vindicating the dead, and a recently discovered letter by Taney pictures a man with the courage of his convictions, whose ambition was to "live in peace with all men."

The letter, discovered in a pile of "scrap" thrown into a Washington, D. C., alleyway during a fire in a barn, was addressed to one of Taney's friends, George W. Hughes, of Tulip Hill, near Annapolis, Md.

Dated "Washington, June 8, 1861," the letter reads, in part:

"My Dear Sir:

"I returned from Baltimore yesterday—having remained there to try a case in Admiralty in the Circuit Court after I had disposed of Merryman's case—and this morning I received your kind letter.

"I thank you for the kind terms in which you have spoken of my opinion in the habeas corpus case—I certainly desire no conflict with the executive department of the government and would be glad as you will readily suppose to spend the brief remnant of life that may yet be vouchsafed to me, in peace with all men and in the quiet discharge of every day judicial duties.

"Yet I trust I shall always be found ready to meet any responsibility or any consequences that my official duty may require me to encounter."

REALIZED UNPOPULARITY

It thus becomes apparent that Taney fully recognized the unpopularity of his opinions but was ready, nevertheless, to continue along the road he deemed legally correct.

His opinions did, in fact, bring slanderous remarks to the effect that the chief justice was with the secessionists, and so he probably was in his heart, but he stood four-square behind the principle of a united nation backed by the Constitution as the supreme law.

His unpopularity was so great during the war that even his friends hesitated to communicate with him. This is clearly brought out later in the letter, in which he says:

"I looked at the envelope of your letter carefully—I think it had not been opened—and indeed if it had been read, there certainly was no opinion in it—nor anything said that you could have any reason for wishing to conceal."

It would appear that in time of war, even the letters of the chief justice of the Supreme court were not above suspicion.

Entertainment Industry Experiences Sharp Slump

NEW YORK —(A.P.)— America's entertainment industry is reported experiencing its worst post-war slump.

Printing the results of a national survey, the New York Times said Wednesday the decline "may be the most serious manifestation to date of a trend that set in 18 months ago."

The slump may carry the amusement business down to its pre-war level, the paper said.

The survey disclosed:

Movie box-office sales have fallen off between seven and 12 percent in the last year.

Numerous night clubs that never before shut down in warm weather have closed their doors.

Phonograph record sales have dropped an estimated 10 to 35 percent, forcing the closing of some plant facilities.

Sheet music sales are off almost 40 percent.

Payrolls have been slashed on many movie lots because of reduced margins of profit.

The number of legitimate shows on Broadway is less than a year ago, and several current productions are in precarious financial condition.

Many radio stars face salary cuts.

"Television has thus become virtually the only major entertainment field—with the possible exception of some concert programs—to show continued growth," the Times said.

The paper said top entertainment executives cited these reasons for the slump:

1. Increased living costs have led to curtailment of luxury good-time spending.

2. Commodities not available in wartime — such as automobile — now are competing for the consumer dollars.

3. Competition from new amusement fields, such as night baseball.

4. Increased costs that the industry has been unable to pass along in the form of higher prices because of customer resistance.

Brock Pemberton, president of the New York League of Theaters, was quoted as saying the present "financial slump is greater than anything since the pre-war depression."

"The people have undoubtedly stopped throwing their money around," he said.

Flood of High Test Gasoline Brings Loss to 3 Families

DENVER —(U.P.)— Three families today appealed for rescue from a $2,000 flood of high test gasoline in their backyards.

The gasoline—more than 6,000 gallons retailing at 30 cents a gallon at the corner pumps—seeped into the water wells of dairy farmer Philip Schweider, truck gardener Carl Stone and Mrs. Bonnie Perko, wife of a bus driver.

First the gasoline was just a nuisance. Not that it has become a menace. It has restricted them to dribbles of drinking water from deep, and so far unaffected, artesian wells which also are on their property.

At the Perko residence, gasoline fumes permeated the basement and forced Mrs. Perko to switch from open-flame gas cooking to electrical cooking because of the fire-hazard.

Stone said the gasoline seeped into the soil of his truck farm and irrigation well, leaving his farm blighted with dull brown petroleum smears.

Schweider, hard pressed for enough water for his dairy herd, said "if the seepage isn't stopped, it might cost my farm."

Nobody knows where the gasoline is coming from. State and city officials haven't been able to trace the flow. And experts from two gasoline depots located more than a mile away said they haven't found any leakage in their tanks.

Find Grave Of Magician

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(U.P.)—A shrine is planned here to mark the grave of Paul Valadon, "father of modern magic" and one of the greatest vaudeville performers of his day.

Valadon's exit from the show world at the peak of his career 35 years ago was a mystery as puzzling as his theatrical stunts. Recently his unmarked grave was discovered here by the Magicians Guild of the United States in a storybook climax.

According to Julian J. Proskauer, New York, past president of the guild, "Valadon was the Houdini of his day—a great sleight-of-hand man."

His grave was located by a study of yellowed vital statistics.

The story of his tragic end then was supplied by his son, Paul Valadon, now a Phoenix city employe.

Young Valadon said his father was a headliner on the Orpheum circuit for many years after he came to this country from England. Thurston and Keller, also great magicians of their day, were his partners at one time. But his greatest fame came from the spectacular illusions he invented and staged with the help of eight assistants.

The famed illusionist's wife died in 1908. Not long afterward he slipped away from the glare of the footlights.

Miserably ill with tuberculosis, he came to Phoenix with his son but was unable to shake off the disease. He died in 1913 at the age of 46 without fanfare in a young, bustling town already accustomed to victims of the malady.

Strikes Hit Italian Aid Timetable

Nation's Industry In Weak Condition

ROME —●— Strikes threaten to upset the Marshall Plan timetable in Italy.

A quickening quarrel between organized workers and management over wholesale labor layoffs has focused attention on the creaky condition of Italy's industry.

Production must be doubled and new markets found for Italian goods if the Marshall Plan is to meet major objectives.

Caught in the tight squeeze of mounting costs (about 85 times above prewar levels) and falling demand, Italian industrialists have trimmed their sails, cutting production and laying off labor.

Labor confederation (CGIL) leaders belonging to both the union's communist majority and pro-government minority, reacted sharply and swiftly. Strikes and slow-downs have cut into the making of most everything from spaghetti to steel.

By best estimates, 2,000,000 workers are unemployed in Italy today.

Additions to this idle force — labor says layoffs are numbering as high as 5,000 weekly—will only bring more misery to the nation's low-paid (about $50 monthly), under-fed (less than 2,200 calories daily) laboring class.

The expected general upturn in business, following the usual winter slowdown and the April election, has not developed.

MORE PLANES SHIPPED

BALBOA, Canal Zone — (AP) — The American escort carrier Sicily leaves for Glasgow, Scotland, tomorrow with 9 Shooting Star jet fighter planes, scheduled for duty in Germany.

Jazz Age Brought to Life Again

Film Tells Story of Roaring Twenties

By GEORGE TRAMMELL

HOLLYWOOD — (CP) — Movietown has recreated the Roaring Twenties and the Jazz Age.

The studio producing the film based on the late F. Scott Fitzgerald's novel, The Great Gatsby, went all-out to picture the scenes described in the book.

The set is the largest interior built in Movietown since before the war. It covers 18,000 square feet. There is a massive ballroom, a full-scale functional swimming pool, an artificial lily pond, a dozen massive statues of questionable authenticity. It is a mixture of marble, gold-plate, crystal chandeliers and oversize objects d'art.

You may challenge its taste, but you must accept its authenticity.

Nearly 300 extra and bit players were called for this scene. When your reporter visited the set he saw many of the actors and actresses dancing to the music of a 16-piece orchestra.

Others lounged around the swimming pool. Several leaped about on pogo sticks. One girl rode a horse through the ballroom.

STARS SEEN

Audiences naturally would be interested most in the stars who were spotted in this soiree. There was Alan Ladd, as the title-roled Gatsby, wearing white tie and tails.

There was Betty Field, the stage's original Dream Girl, making her first picture in three years. And bright-eyed Ruth Hussey, also recently on the stage as star of State of the Union. Macdonald Carey and Barry Sullivan, stalwart six-footers, shouldered their way through the crowd.

Those were the stars. They deserved the spotlight. —

However the others — the extras and the bit players — were of great interest, too, if you knew a bit of their backgrounds. Threads from their lives make up the tangled skein of Hollywood.

The pretty girl singing with the orchestra was Carol Richards. It was her first movie role — and she couldn't be blamed for hoping it is a springboard to stardom. Carol came to Hollywood six months ago from Indianapolis, Ind., where she was a popular radio entertainer.

RENEE RANDALL—Changed her hair from black to brown for luck.

That beautiful "guest" at the film party is Rennee Randall, who changed her hair from jet black to golden brown and won a role in the picture the very next day.

You'd seen that dignified chap with the flowing whiskers in many films. He was Count Rudolph Stefenelli, originally of Vienna but now a long-time veteran of the movies.

An attractive woman walking past stirred ancient memories. She was Jean Acker, once the wife of Rudolph Valentino and still an active trouper.

Those two luscious twins really were twins — Jeanne and Lynne Romer of San Francisco. They are just beginning their screen careers.

Those three men wearing turbans actually were Indians — India Indians — Bhoghivan Singh, Mojid Ali and Mahmen Tahir, who left their native land years ago and are known by all film casting directors.

That fellow standing by the swimming pool appeared to be an expert. He should. His name is Fred Zendar, member of the 1928 Olympic Games swimming team and a lifeguard between pictures at Santa Monica, Cal.

Dorothy Andre, a veteran stunt gal, stood on the sidelines out of camera range. Her left arm was bandaged.

For the past 11 years Dorothy has taken innumerable falls, plunges off cliffs, been in movie-staged auto crashes and ridden rearing horses. In all that time she never had an accident.

Gullible Followers of Wallace Open Their Convention Tomorrow

NEW YORK—This is the eve of the meeting in Philadelphia of the traitors, tatterdemalions, political degenerates and imbeciles and the leaven of gullible innocents who have adopted Henry Wallace as a composite fool and mahatma for the campaign of 1948. To the communists, he is a fool.

To the few earnest fools in his following, he is a guru.

They are holding a convention according to the regular American political forms, but with some variations, to nominate as their candidate for president the candidate of Josef Stalin.

The formality comes as a very belated afterthought inasmuch as Wallace nominated himself and accepted with a zeal approaching frenzy a year ago and has been barnstorming the country for eight months.

In That Campaign He Has Collected more money than any other politico-mystical yogi in our history.

He appears to have gathered well over a million dollars, much of it in Hollywood where Bubblehead's seeming of divinity was vindicated in the eyes of the most worldly skeptics in that sordid hole when he wheedled a check out of Charlie Chaplin. There were rumors, probably exaggerated 9,999-fold, that this was a check for $1,000. But even so, it was almost as though Henry Wallace had lit out for the breakers and, before the very eyes of the faithful, had walked upon the sea. It was, in short, a miracle.

During his campaign Bubblehead has refused all invitations to discuss the authorship of a set of goofy letters. These epistles were addressed to the late Nicholas Roerich, the Russian mahatma and esoteric fakir who once held a group of Henry's spiritual playmates in thrall at their elaborate haunted house on Riverside drive.

And to others in the circle, the facts are established that Wallace did frequent the lamasery, that several of his most intimate friends professed to believe that Roerich was God Almighty and that Wallace did write many letters to Roerich and to others in the cult, including Madam Roerich, who was known by the cultish name of Modra.

Although Bubblehead has shrugged off all attempts to elicit comment on any of the goofy Guru letters, he did, nevertheless, admit several years ago that he did write a batch of letters to persons at the joss-house.

★

He said there was one in particular which would make him appear very foolish. He had kept no copy and he could not remember everything he said in that letter, but he did feel sure that he had said idiotic things.

Farley's Book Listed as Best; Graziano Given a Break By T-Men

BOOKS, PLANES AND A HONOLULU LULU—"Jim Farley's Story" (The Roosevelt Years) is outselling all other books in the nation. The method of computing "best-seller" lists is honest enough, but not comprehensive. Reports are tabulated from demand in the leading outlets of the big cities. But Farley, with myriad handshaking acquaintances in all the remote crossroads villages, is getting the play and the dough where it counts, but where it isn't counted in the metropolitan papers' boxscores.

★

A few days before Rocky Graziano took it on the button from Tony Zale, in Newark, he got a break from U. S. T-Men in New York. In his apartment a fugitive, wanted on a dope charge, was under cover. He had been tailed to the pug's home. The government men were on the point of making a raid and arresting the man, after which the then champ was to be taken in for harboring. But it was decided that, since he was about to engage in so important a bout, there might be an unpleasant public reaction and suspicion of skulduggery. So a phone call was made to his lawyer, who was given a few hours in which to surrender the guy, or else. He gave up immediately.

The big battle in the airlines business is and long has been over Pan American's campaign to land domestic routes, which can supplement its international schedules, now that continental systems (TWA, American, Braniff, etc) have been awarded trans-oceanic franchises in competition with Pan Am's. Those foreign privileges were granted during the Democratic administration, opposed by Republicans, especially Sen. Brewster, of Maine.

Now, if Gov. Dewey is elected President, the squeeze is expected to switch and Pan Am will win coast-to-coast rights. This is how it will happen: The Civil Aeronautics board will sanction Pan Am buying into Howard Hughes' TWA, and Hughes will find it advantageous to sell and get out of the aviation industry. His recent purchase of RKO, the major movie studio ($11,500,000 cash on the barrelhead for a 23 per cent interest) was the tipoff. A stipulation in that transaction permits Floyd Odlum, the financier who sold RKO, to buy stock in TWA. That will be done and a giant merger of the airlines will follow.

Wherever the President travels in the U. S., Secret Service men drive White House cars to his every destination beforehand, unless they have arranged in big cities for use of autos maintained by municipalities for distinguished guests. But, when President Roosevelt visited Honolulu, no car was shipped and the city had none that met the regulations of protocol. It is traditional for the Chief Executive to ride in an open touring car, black, sleek and shiny.

Touring cars hadn't been turned out much for wears. Those available in Hawaii were not black, far from sleek or shiny. But a resident agent came up with one that answered all specifications, I was told by one of the Hawaiian delegates to one of the Philadelphia conventions.

It was commandeered. FDR rode in it as the ticker-tape rained and many cheered—but as many tittered. The President never knew why handkerchiefs were held over mouths, why men shoved elbows into their neighbors' ribs.

The car was the best-known thing on wheels on the island. It belonged to Dot McCreedy, foremost madame in the Pacific, who often used it to display her hussies, driving slowly through the same avenues along which the President was waving his hat!

Third Party Called Tool Of Kremlin

Wallace Flays Red Indictments

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Americans for Democratic Action today assailed Henry Wallace's third party as a tool of the communists.

Even as Wallace lashed out at the indictment of 12 communists by a federal grand jury in New York, the ADA said through James Loeb jr., its executive secretary, that:

"Mr. Wallace's candidacy (for President) does not obscure the fact that the communists and their collaborators guide the main policies and word the major pronouncements of this (New) party."

There was some doubt that this frontal attack, prepared for delivery before the committee which is drafting a platform for the Wallace convention meeting here tomorrow, would ever be delivered formally.

But that didn't stop Loeb from putting out his testimony in advance.

Asserting the ADA had criticized American policy with "clean hands," Loeb said Wallace's entry into the presidential race was only "a dangerous adventure undertaken by cynical men in whose hands Henry A. Wallace placed his political fortunes."

"The presence of Mr. Wallace does not alter the fact that the real authority in your party is vested in the hands of men and women many of whom followed the dictates of totalitarianism in the period of the Nazi-Soviet pact," Loeb declared.

"It is our conviction," he said, "that were the communists to withdraw from your organization today, your organization would soon join that long list of discarded groups which testify eloquently to the inevitable failure of the so-called 'united front' — which always becomes decreasingly united and increasingly 'front'."

Publicity agents for the ADA, which lists former Price Administrator Leon Henderson as its chairman, said Loeb had been invited by telegram to testify before the platform committee.

It was up to Rexford Guy Tugwell, once one of Franklin D. Roosevelt's brain trust, and the platform committee he heads, whether Loeb would be allowed to testify.

Wallace, due here tomorrow to take over personal leadership of his new party, criticized the indictment of communist leaders in New York.

He said it is "interesting and highly significant that these red scares over the past two years have been timed to silence opposition to new turns in the bi-party, get-tough foreign policy."

Meat Prices Climb Here

Dealer Advises 'Stop Eating'

Mansfield wholesale and retail meat dealers had gloomy news for the city's housewives today.

Some retailers said they were paying five cents a pound more for pork this week than a week ago. Beef was quoted three and a half cents a pound higher than last week.

Howard Wolfe, livestock buyer for the Kearns Packing company, said meat bought by the company has not fluctuated in price for 10 days, but that the only way for dropping back meat prices is to:

"Stop eating it.

LIVESTOCK SCARCE

"I know it's hard to do, but some people are going to do it because they can't afford to buy meat, "Wolfe continued.

"There just isn't enough livestock. Hogs weigh 35 per cent short of last year. A lot of the big hog breeders dropped out of the business when OPA prices were too low for them to make any profit. We're just beginning to feel that shortage now."

Meanwhile, round and sirloin steak was still $1.10 a pound with the top price on choice porterhouse quoted at $1.40—the top rung on today's beef prices. Pork chops were selling for 85 cents, with lowly hamburg hitting a high of 65 cents in many markets.

Repair Bids Vary $290

Contractor Edward M. Schuler submitted the lower of two bids opened at the city building yesterday for remodeling of the municipal garage located at the rear of city hall.

Schuler's bid of $5,909 was $290 lower than the bid submitted by the Glasener company.

Work to be done includes moving of electrical control board from the first floor of the building into the garage on the second floor. The space made available on the first floor will be used for lockers for fire department personnel.

A contract was awarded to the Brandenburg Chevrolet company to supply the city with a car for the health department at a price of $1,333.

Crash Injures Four In Band

LATROBE, Pa. —(U.P.)— Four members of Tex Beneke's band were injured today when their automobile went out of control four miles east of Blairsville.

The band had completed an engagement at Carrollton, Pa, and was en route to Zanesville, O., when the accident occurred. The band was to play an engagement at Zanesville tonight.

Robbie Deaueille, 24, a singer, is in Latrobe hospital with a head injury. Johnny White, 24, a saxophone player from Indianapolis, was in Indiana, Pa., hospital with a neck injury. Pete Candoli, 25, of South Bend, Ind., a trumpet player, and Bob Pring, 25, were treated for minor injuries and released.

Boy, 11, Held For Murder

MARTINEZ, Cal. — (U.P.) — Eleven-year-old Tommy Harrington was the calmest person in the sheriff's office today as he told officers how he shot and killed Mrs. Daisy Ebling because he "wanted money for a summer vacation."

Sheriff James N. Long of Contra Costa county said the only time the boy showed emotion was when his bubble gum was taken from him.

Officers found an arsenal of guns and ammunition the boy apparently had collected for a career of crime.

Boys on Hike March Near Murder Scene

By DWYER CLAY

Had it not been that 65 boys attending the Lutheran church's Camp Mowana went on a hike along Flemings Falls road yesterday afternoon, the bodies of the three murdered members of the John Elmer Niebel family might not have been discovered—possibly until corn picking time.

Eighteen-year-old Robert Zoeller was marching with the boys when:

"I saw something in the field. I didn't know what it was. I walked back, took one look and ran out.

"I told the boys they'd have to call the fertilizer truck to pick up the three dead hogs."

Zoeller's presence of mind in keeping word of the tragedy from the boys won high praise from Sheriff Frank E. Robinson.

"That boy used his head," the sheriff said

Zoeller said he and the camp counselor, Rev. Herbert Veler of Stoney Ridge, O., a former Mansfield minister, marched the boys back to the camp. There Zoeller quietly told Rev. Veler of his gruesome find.

HURRIED TO FARM

Under Rev. Veler's instructions, Zoeller then hurried to the farm home of John Winger, a half mile from the camp and a quarter mile from the murder scene. He told Mrs. Winger of what he had seen in the nearly head-high corn and Mrs. Winger promptly summoned sheriff's deputies.

It was not until hours later that the boys at the camp were informed of the frightful scene they had passed on their march.

It was about 2:15 p. m. that Zoeller discovered the bodies. Nude, they lay two to three feet apart in a small area where the killers apparently had shot them down coldly after forcing them to walk, unclothed, into the tall corn.

Mrs. Niebel had untied shoes on her feet, but her husband and daughter were barefoot. The tracks left by their shoeless feet were visible in the soft ground, as a sun playing hide and seek with overhanging clouds cast alternate shadows and bright streaks over the bodies.

NO SIGN OF STRUGGLE

The scene was devoid of any evidences of a struggle. Little of the corn had been knocked down.

Back at the Niebel residence at 1399 North Main street, meanwhile, sheriff's deputies, state highway patrolmen and OSR officials waited restlessly, hopeful of word from the scores of men who had been enlisted to conduct an intensive search of the Reformatory grounds.

Suddenly, a siren sounded in the distance. A sheriff's car arrived to notify Sheriff Frank E. Robinson of the discovery. Stunned at the shocking news, officers quickly piled into their cars and sped to the scene on Flemings Falls road, six miles away.

Mrs. Loyal Niebel, daughter-in-law of the murdered couple, fell in a faint on the grass in front of the Niebel residence. For hours before, she and her husband had remained at the home, hopeful searchers would find the parents and daughter unharmed but fearful of the worst. Mrs. Loyal Niebel sought comfort in her husband's arms.

CROWD GATHERS

It was a shocked and sober-faced crowd of state, county and city police officials who gathered in the cornfield. None touched the bodies until police experts could complete their examinations.

Farmers from the surrounding area, newsmen, spectators and police officials stood by silently and stunned.

An empty cartridge lay on the ground near where the bodies lay on their backs. Mrs. Niebel's fists were clutched tightly. Her body was covered with mud, indicating that she probably lived after the killers left the scene and rolled over in pain as she sought to summon help.

Both women appeared to have put their hair up into braids before retiring. Phyllis Niebel's light red hair still was in pin curls.

Dems Launch Money Drive

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The Democratic National committee today laid plans for a "grass roots" campaign for money. But it refused to say how much it has now, or how much it expects to get in the coming drive.

National Treasurer Joe Blythe, who is directing the campaign, emphasized that the Democratic party is "the poor man's party."

"We will go into every city and village and collect small contributions from the man-in-the-street," Blythe said.

Circus Party Held In Park

Seventy-five members of the Children's Theatre group turned South Park into a circus background this morning complete with clowns, sideshows, balloons, and pink lemonade.

The children arrived in costume at 9 a. m. to participate in a circus party which they planned and staged themselves. In the true manner of a circus they first paraded through the streets surrounding the park.

Approximately 15 sideshows were put on by the children. One cent was charged for each and the money will go into a fund for food for orphans overseas.

A record player provided a background of circus music and snakecharmers, fortune tellers, midgets, and other freaks added to the circus atmosphere.

The children brought their lunches with them and the board of directors of the Children's Theatre furnished ice cream and pink lemonade.

Hal McCuen, director of the theatre, and his staff made arrangements for the circus party.

The 180-passenger, 92-ton sky giant will leave here Saturday for Moffett field naval air station near San Francisco for inspection by 12th naval district officers.

Early Sunday, the navy announced, the 156-foot long plane will take off for a 2,500-mile nonstop flight to the naval air station at Patuxent River, Md. Powered by four 3,500-horsepower Pratt and Whitney engines, the Constitution is expected to make the trip in nine or ten hours.

Legal Action Planned

Land Needed For Road

Legal action to obtain a right of way to connect the east end of East Fifth street with the Ashland road was promised today by council street committee Chairman Fred Miller.

The city needs the right-of-way between Snyder street and the Ashland road to establish a one-way traffic system in the city and has unsuccessfully tried to buy the needed land from the Mansfield Telephone company.

Miller said City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch probably will be instructed at the Aug. 3 meeting of council to file condemnation proceedings against the company.

The company has refused to sell on the grounds that it has improved the land running adjacent to Rocky Fork for its own needs and to sell the right-of-way needed would ruin its frontage on Ashland road and make the land useless.

'Y's Little Women' Play

The dramatic classes of the "Y's Little Women" YWCA daytime camp presented three plays this afternoon at a parents' program at the "Y" which concluded 10 days of camping. In addition to the plays there were displays of handicrafts, group singing, and a social hour.

"Cinderella," "Common Clay Court," and "Who Laughs Last" were the three plays.

Nancy Chalker played Cinderella, Sue Huffman and Joan Brickley, the two stepsisters, Maureen Taylor, the fairy godmother, Diane Robenstine, the prince, Betty Lou Weber, the guard, and Sandra Weber, the stepmother in "Cinderella."

The role of the judge in "Common Clay Court" was played by Pat Doner. Others who took part were Marilyn Gresmer as Jane, Sandra Jean Wise as Mason, Mary Wilbourne as Steve, Patricia Joan Robinson as Copper, Ruth McFarland as the clerk, Helen Boyle as the mother, and Carol Kay Appleman as the detective.

Thelma Madden played the king in "Who Laughs Last," Mary Lou Asbury, the queen, Carol Milliron, Matento, Betsy Gougoutas, Elzunia, Carol Benning, a beggar, and Janice Nahas and Nancy Stump, ladies of the court.

29 Fugitives Cross Ocean

PROVINCETOWN, Mass—(U.P.)—Twenty-nine fugitives from behind the Soviet iron curtain set out for Boston today with a prayer that God "who sailed with us" across the Atlantic will help them win admission to the United States.

Skipper John Rosenberg, 63, said none of the 15 men, seven women and seven children aboard his 64-foot ketch Gundel had a visa or an entry permit—only "a faith in the justice of God."

That faith, plus a battered sextant and a wristwatch, he said, guided them in a 43-day crossing of the Atlantic to Provincetown harbor, where another group of pilgrims once set foot in the new world 328 years ago.

The 25 Latvians, two Swedes, a Lithuanian and a Russian aboard the Gundel were forbidden to land after their arrival yesterday.

Coast Guard authorities ordered them to remain aboard and gave them 24 hours to clear the harbor and proceed to Boston for examination by immigration officials.

Court Room Nearly Ready

The new municipal court room of the third floor of the city building should be ready for occupancy within the next three weeks.

Workmen today were installing cushioned seats in the spectator's section and only the installation of drapes, the finishing of work on the doors and windows and purchase of several items of furniture remain before the room will be ready for use.

Scheduled for completion by the end of March, shortage of plumbing and other hardware supplies has held up work on the room.

Sherwood Forest's Merry Folk Visit Hidden Hollow Camp

Robin Hood, Maid Marian, Alana-Dale and all the merry folks of Sherwood Forest are visiting Hidden Hollow Camp today as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gimbel, camp directors.

No ghosts, these rollicking residents of Olde England, but "reasonable facsimilies" in the person of camp boys and girls who donned costumes and duplicate the gay antics of Sherwood Forest inhabitants whose cavortings have formed the basis of one of youth's most loved stories.

"Friar Tuck" was there, too, and "Will Scarlett" and a sheriff band made up of camp counselors. Judy Bruce took the role of Maid Marian and Russell Keck, that of Robin Hood by a vote of campers. They were costumed in bright red and green tunics. The Merry Men of the forest competed in contests throughout the day constantly interrupted by the sheriff's men, who also attempted to vie for the honors.

Early this morning, campers donned hats of brown paper with gay drooping feathers. The dining room was decorated with pine branches and a green lattice motif. Small trees were placed on each of the tables, with cards and favors for each of the children.

The day will end with a night tour of "Sherwood Forest" aptly duplicated in the woods of the camp itself. In the hollows and niches of the wooded grove, campers will find groups of Robin Hood's men around their campfires and they will stop and listen while each group sings songs and presents games and skits.

Beams Fail As Remedy For Cancer

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — An attempt to treat incurable cancer with a beam of neutrons from a cyclotron has ended without much success.

Back in 1938 researchers found that neutrons, which are components of atomic nuclei, effectively destroyed cancer tissue when concentrated into a beam to bombard malignant cells. The neutrons did not seem to destroy healthy cells near the cancerous ones.

To test neutrons as a treatment, University of California medical researchers over a period of five years treated 249 persons by this method, using eight million and 16-million volt beams from two Berkeley cyclotrons.

Reporting on the results, Dr. Robert S. Stone, the university's top radiologist, said that only 7½ per cent of the treated patients survived five years or more. The five-year survival rate of average patients with incurable cancer is five per cent.

Thus the treatment was better than none at all but not sufficiently effective to warrant its continuance, Dr. Stone said. He reported in the American Journal or Roentgenology and Radium Therapy.

One of the drawbacks, Dr. Stone added, was that, despite first indications, the neutrons caused serious damage to healthy cells which showed up later.

While 18 of the treated patients were kept alive for more than five years all of them had "severe late reactions," Dr. Stone said.

This is the second time in recent months that the university has reported unfavorably on atomic tests against malignancy. Last March the researchers announced an 11-year test of radioactive phosphorus against leukemia had shown it to be no better than X-ray treatments. Leukemia is a cancer-like disease of the white blood vessels.

Nevertheless radioactive substances from the atomic ovens now are being used with some degree of success against malignancy and several new ones are being tried.

Dr. V. A. Low-Beer, of the university's medical school, has reported successful treatment of shallow skin cancers with radioactive phosphorus. It also has been used successfully against polycythemia vera, a disease characterized by overproduction of red blood cells.

Radioactive iodine, another atomic medicine, has been used with success in treatment of some kinds of hyperthyroidism and with varying results against thyroid cancer.

Stone is one of the country's foremost authorities on radiation as a medical instrument. During the war he was in charge of guarding the health of workers at the atomic plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Bombers Prepare For Long Stay In European Quarters

(Editor's Note: The following dispatch is by a United Press correspondent accompanying U. S. jet planes flying to England and Germany.)

By WILLIAM KADUSON

ODIHAM, Eng. —(U.P.)— There are indications on both sides of the Atlantic that the United States plans to send super-fortresses to Britain on "training maneuvers" for an indefinite period of time.

There are 60 B-29's here now. Some officers think they are only the vanguard of perhaps as many as 400 super-forts which will be sent here to "train."

This is the first time that the "big boys" of the American Air Force have been seen in European skies. They were designed for long-range bombing in the Pacific during World War II and never were brought to Europe because the furthest target was Germany, which was within easy normal bomber range of British bases.

The impressive array of American aerial might assembled at this field 40 miles from London was further spotlighted by the arrival of 16 Shooting Star jet planes after an Atlantic crossing.

These F-80's are en route to Furstenfeldbruck field, near Munich, for two weeks of "limited maneuvers," which increases the belief held by the majority of Britishers that the arrival of the American planes is a "show of force," although air force leaders say it is only routine training.

The trip across the ocean shows that the "training" program probably will be a lengthy one.

The air base at Presque Isle in northern Maine, one of the largest on the American side of the Atlantic, is being reactivated to accommodate both heavy bombers and the fast jet fighters.

The superforts fly directly to England from Presque Isle. There are alternate bases along the great circle route in case of bad weather, but the big planes fly so high weather seldom stops them.

About 50 men are needed to service each superfort between flights. Today at such airports as Meeks field, Iceland, chartered transports loaded with crews and maintenance men refuel and takeoff for England.

Russia Claims Invention of First Plane

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Russia today claimed it built the first airplane in 1882. That was more than 20 years before the American Wright brothers made their famous flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C.

This "first" was chalked up by Radio Moscow beside other suddenly-discovered historical achievements in science and engineering being claimed almost daily by the Russians.

Here are some excerpts from a broadcast to the Russian people which was overheard here by government monitors:

"Our country is the birthplace of aviation. The first airplane in the world was built in Russia in 1882 by Designer Mozhairsky. Only 20 years later did the Americans build their own first airplane.

"The famous Russian scientists Lomonosov, Mendeleev, Shukov, and others are the founders of present-day aviation theory. The USSR is also the birthplace of multi-engined planes, the first of which was designed in Russia in 1914. A year later, Russian designers had built a multi-engined bomber, the first in the world."

Infant Born, Mother Flees

PORTSMOUTH —(INS)— A mystery woman who entered Portsmouth City hospital Monday afternoon to give birth to a baby boy and then disappeared was still being sought today.

The woman came to the hospital directly from a train, gave a fictjtious Charleston, W. Va., name and address, said she was estranged from her husband, and was delivered of her child—all in ten minutes.

She told nurses that "my mother will come after the baby." When nurses returned later to attend her, she had disappeared.

Cigar Dealers Form Group

Incorporation of the Richland County Cigar Dealer's association, a non-profit organization, was announced Wednesday by the secretary of state, Columbus.

Rex Reese, president of the association, said the dealers organized during the war better to enable them to secure scarce merchandise. The group now operates as a club, he said. Meetings are held once each month at the Eagles home.

Nicholas Linster is secretary of the association and Jerome King is recording secretary. R. J. Brown filed the incorporation papers.

Sister Gets Trust Fund

Gen. Pershing Leaves $150,000

WASHINGTON — (NS — The will of Gen. John J. Pershing, filed Wednesday in District court, leaves the bulk of his $150,000 estate in trust for his sister and devoted companion, Miss May Pershing.

The World War I commander, who died in Washington last Thursday provided that upon his sister's death the residue of the estate will pass to his son, Francis Warren Pershing.

Under a trust fund provided by the will's terms, Miss Pershing is to receive $6,000 yearly during her lifetime.

Warren Pershing is to receive his father's Distinguished Service medal and all tangible personal property not otherwise bequeathed.

Bequests include $10,000 to the Laramie County hospital at Cheyenne, Wyo., in memory of the general's wife, Frances Warren Pershing, and their three daughters, who perished in a fire at the Presidio of San Francisco in 1915.

The Riggs National bank of Washington, Warren Pershing, and Col. George E. Adamson, long a close friend of the general, are named as executors of the will, to serve as trustees of the estate, without bond.

Portable Radios Reported Stolen

Theft of three portable radios from the Huber furniture store, 124 North Main street, was reported Tuesday by the owner, H. F. Huber.

Huber told police the radios were taken from the store between opening time and 3 p. m. yesterday. He said the theft was the fourth of its kind this week, an iron, electric razor and another radio having been taken previously.

Huber said he had no suspects, but that the front of the store was often left unwatched while clerks showed merchandise in an adjoining room to the rear of the establishment.

Recruiters Reach Quota

The Mansfield U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station attained 100 per cent of its monthly quota Tuesday with the enlistment of four area men, Capt. Robert L. Pine, recruiting officer announced today.

The area men who will report to Ft. Dix, N. J., before reassignment to the First Calvary division and 24th Infantry division are William Parsons, 30½ East First street; John Gartin, Mansfield R. D. 3; Billy Vanderpool, Plymouth, and Billy Walsworth, Mt. Vernon.

"This is the third time this year that this office has attained a 100 per cent quota," Capt. Pine said. "We reached the perfect mark in April and June and the last time prior to April was in June 1947."

Bucyrus Youth Enlists

The Mansfield U. S. Navy recruiting station has enlisted Harold E. Williams, Bucyrus, for three years service. Williams will report to Great Lakes Naval Training Center for recruit training prior to reassignment to the Naval Aviation fundamentals service school.

Nearly 600 New Swimmers Will Graduate

New Class Set to Start Ou Aug. 10

Pre-School Tots May Get Chance

Nearly 600 new swimmers are expected to win their "fins" next week and a new class for children who want to learn to swim will be started on Tuesday, Aug. 10, Gerald Coron, water safety director of the Red Cross announced today.

By the end of next week, most of the 600 beginners in the first class will have learned to swim and will be graduated, Coron said. Those who have not been able to make the grade during the first summer course, will be carried over into the second class, if they wish.

The second summer's course will be held, as was the first, at Liberty park pool from 8 a m to noon.

"We are already getting reservations from mothers who have called the Red Cross offices, Coron said. "We will continue to take reservations until the class opens."

In addition to the regular beginners' class, Coron said, he hopes to start one for pre-school children between the ages of two and four. This class, Coron said, will be held from 11 a. m. until noon of each day.

"While we won't expect these little tots to learn to swim in the week we'll be able to give them, we do think they'll lose their fear of water in that time and perhaps learn to float. At least they'll learn to wade in the water."

Coron gives a great deal of credit to the Girl Scouts for assisting in the locker rooms at the pool.

"Without these Girl Scouts," he said, "we couldn't possibly have carried on. They've given out baskets, taken names and helped the instructors take care of the little children."

The eight Scouts who have given their time each morning of the course include: Jean Hathaway, Martha Bell, Mary Lou Lorentz, Judy Rodney, Carol Massa, Mary Lou Marzetti, Joan Johnson and Leona Kindinger. All are senior Scouts and they have worked under the supervision of Mrs. Worth Ingram, water safety registrar.

Instructors who will continue to teach during the second course are: Mrs. H. D. Osmond, Mrs. Dorothy Monroe, Miss Sally Ashbaugh, Miss Patricia Hieber, Joe Damroff and Coron.

Female Spy Revealed Red Espionage Plot

NEW YORK—(UP)—A conscience-stricken woman member of a spy ring gave the FBI the first tip in 1945 that resulted in the indictment of 12 top communist leaders, the New York World-Telegram said Wednesday in a copyright dispatch.

The ring included top government officials, the newspaper said.

Among the secrets that the woman and her associates gave to the Soviet Union were the first plans of the B-29, complete data on R-D-X, a plastic explosive, almost daily figures on plane production and the production of other war materials, the World-Telegram said.

The woman was described as a striking New England-born blonde who is a graduate of a New England college.

She told the FBI that she had been a communist party member for years and during the war was an official of a purported relief organization, the newspaper said. She was said to be now employed as a clerk.

The newspaper said the woman told the FBI that more than 50 government employes, one a personal adviser of President Roosevelt, furnished information to her. All were members of the communist party and were not paid, the newspaper said.

Another of them was a man high in the councils of the office of strategic services, another a high Army Air Forces officer, another an official of the War Production board, and still others members of the Office of War Information and other strategic government agencies, the newspaper said.

OFFICIAL SUSPECTED

Once the White House official informed the spy ring that American intelligence officers were about to break the Russian secret code and it presumably changed, the newspaper said.

The spy ring was said to have operated here, in Washington, and in other strategic sections of the country.

Although the indictments of the 12 communist leaders Tuesday charged violation of the Smith act, which prohibits activities connected with the overthrow of the government by force and violence, the grand jury is continuing its inquiry on the initial phase of the investigation—the spy ring.

"It is believed that the FBI does not have enough proof to indict (members of the spy ring), but it is known that the bureau is remaining relentlessly on the track," the story said, adding that nearly all of the government officials involved have been dismissed because of FBI pressure.

After the woman told her story the attorney general's office, realizing there was little corroborative evidence, impannelled a grand jury in June, 1947, the newspaper said.

It reported that the jurors were so furious after hearing her story they wanted to indict the government employes involved immediately. The newspaper said, however, that federal authorities felt they did not have sufficient conclusive evidence and prevailed upon the jurors to wait.

The woman told the FBI that most of the information the spy ring got was channelled to Russia, the newspaper said, but on matters of special political interest the woman made carbon copies and sent them to the headquarters of the Communist party here, it added.

HELD POSITION

The newspaper said that the woman maintained many of her old associations for more than a year after informing the FBI of the spy ring.

With FBI agents watching, the World-Telegram said, she once met a high official from the Soviet embassy in Washington and received an envelope containing several thousands of dollars from him.

The party believed she was weakening and the official had come to New York to press the money upon her, the World-Telegram said.

The newspaper said that the woman, for years a minor member of the party, was taken more and more into the party high command with the outbreak of the war.

When her immediate superior died during the war she was in complete control of the Soviet spy ring, which had been woven into the American Communist party, the newspaper said.

The grand jury began looking into the Communist party's belief in the use of force and violence to overthrow the government about four months ago. The newspaper said that the jury felt that it should take some specific action while continuing its espionage investigation.

The newspaper said that the government officials summoned talked readily enough about their normal work but would say nothing when questioned on their contacts with the ring or other communists. They refused to testify on the grounds that they might incriminate themselves, the newspaper said.

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK—(UP)—The Cleveland Indians were on a tremendous hot spot today because Lou Boudreau had broken the most iron-bound rule in the managerial book of etiquette by announcing that his team "definitely" was going to win the American league pennant.

Confident almost to the point of cockiness, Boudreau relaxed in the shade of the Indian dugout before yesterday's doubleheader and unequivocably named his club "the best in the league."

The Tribe then proceeded to come apart at the seams and blow the first game to the Yanks before making olive-cheeked Lou look good by winning the second.

★

"WE HAVE HITTING, pitching and a good defense," Boudreau said. "We are in a great spot because we managed to stay up there this far without too much help from Bob Feller. Now I think he's ready to start winning consistently and with the rest of the staff we've got we certainly figure to be up there the rest of the way."

The "rest of the staff" wasn't much more effective yesterday than the losing Feller has been so far this season, almost all of them seeing service as Boudreau had to use eight flingers in the two games.

Small wonder, either, from the support they received. The "best team in the league" committed five errors but that first game was the real dilly.

Boudreau started it off with an error in the second and from there on the rest of the team crowded into the act for a real comedy. Dale Mitchell dropped Tommy Henrich's line drive for another error in the third and then pulled the prize of the day in the fifth. He was on first with one out when Larry Doby belted a long fly to right. Mitchell kept right on going to third.

★

THE YANKS were so confused they almost forgot what to do as Henrich relayed the ball to Snuffy Stirnweiss. Phil Rizzuto called for it—proving at least one guy was in the gall game—and relayed to first for the double play.

In the seventh, the usually reliable Joe Gordon trapped Joe DiMaggio off first but finally threw the ball away. DiMag was safe back at first and Larry Berra trotted home. This happened a few minutes after Sad Sam Zoldak, one of the Cleveland pitching procession, took Ed Lopat's rap to the mound and almost threw to second base—although there were no other base runners.

Then, in the eighth, little Phil Rizzuto laid down a bunt and Catcher Joe Tipton and Pitcher Russ Christopher both laid back from it as if the ball was a hand grenade. The scooter scooted safely across first base.

★

ALL IN ALL it was quite a hectic afternoon for the Tribe. In the two games eight pitchers gave up 23 hits and six home runs.

It provoked the possibility that Boudreau might be sued for libel for calling this the "best team" in the league.

As Bucky Harris, the Yankee manager, put it:

"Somebody should wire Boudreau when he leaves Boston and ask him if he has changed his mind."

Why wait? Somebody should ask him tonight. The Indians aren't out of New York with their scalps yet!

Fails To Show

Greystone Nite club failed to show up for its scheduled game with Farm Tools at Johns park yesterday. The Tool softballers will be host to Shelby VFW at Farm Tools field tomorrow at 6 p. m.

Cleveland Gains Split With New Yorkers

Jim Hegan Hits Grand Slam Homer

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Cleveland Indians are finding their current eastern journey a rough road trip, and if it weren't for those late inning rallies the Tribe wouldn't be on top of the American league race.

After losing the first game of a doubleheader to the New York Yankees, 7-3, yesterday in the Empire City, the Tribe came to life in the eighth inning of the nightcap with a five-run rally, climaxed by Jim Hegan's grand slam home run, to win 12-8.

MAINTAIN MARGIN

By coming from behind with three runs in the seventh and five in the eighth, the Tribe maintained a comfortable margin over the Philadelphia Athletics, who dropped a 17-5 slugfest to St. Louis. The A's are a game and a half behind the Indians.

The Yanks still are 3½ games behind the Redskins and so are the Boston Red Sox, currently the hottest team in either league.

Home runs also were the big factors in the Tribe's defeat in the first game. Joe DiMaggio, Bill Johnson, Cliff Mapes and Phil Rizzuto supplied the four-baggers for the Yanks. Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians also connected for a round-tripper.

Ed Lopat, perennial Tribe jinx, went all the way for the Gotham City boys in the opener and whipped the Tribe for the third time this year and the 15th time in his career. He gave up only six hits.

TAKE EARLY LEAD

The Indians took an early lead in the first game by scoring two runs in the first inning on Boudreau's homer with Larry Doby on base.

However, the Yanks scored once in their half of the first and three times in the third to take the lead, which they never relinquished.

Bob Muncrief started the first contest and hurled five innings, giving up seven hits, including two homers. He was relieved by Sam Zoldak, who gave the Yanks two hits in one and two-thirds frames. Russ Christopher finished both games, winning the second.

In the nightcap, the score was tied 1-1, in the first and 2-2 in the third, but the Yanks made it 6-4 in the fourth and added two more to the lead in the fifth.

GET THREE RUNS

However, in the seventh round the Indians scored three times against Lefty Joe Page, the Yanks ace relief pitcher, who took over for Frank Hiller in the fourth. They scored on a double by Boudreau and singles by Joe Gordon, Eddie Robinson, Pinch-hitter Hal Peck and Dale Mitchell.

Allie Clark started the eighth inning rally with a single and went to second on a sacrifice by Boudreau. Gordon walked and Ken Keltner singled Clark home with the tying run.

Page then was relieved by Karl Drews, who walked Walt Judnich, a pinch hitter for Johnny Berardino. Berardino was going to bat for Robinson before Page was taken out.

Hegan then stepped to the plate and made Drews a very unhappy man. The Yanks were unable to score against Christopher, the fifth Cleveland pitcher, in the eighth and ninth. Steve Gromek started the game and lasted only three and two-thirds innings, giving up six hits.

Kid Favored

NEW YORK — (INS) — Kid Gavilan, Cuba's welterweight champion and considered the foremost challenger for Ray Robinson's title, is a 3 to 1 favorite for tonight's ten-round bout against Brooklyn's Roman Alvarez.

Zitzer's To Meet K. of C. In Hot Stove Feature

The Knights of Columbus and Zitzer's will meet at 6 p. m. today at Liberty park in the feature game of the Hot Stove league program. The game was originally scheduled for Blue Goose Friday but was moved up because of the Grays using the field.

The Exchange club and Odd Fellows won junior league games yesterday by large scores. Odd Fellows walloped Mitsch's, 19 to 3, as Jack Plieninger pitched a three-hitter and the Exchange club trimmed the Elks, 18-7.

In the elementary league, St. Peter's trounced Brinkerhoff, 20-6, Newman racked West Fifth, 25-3, and Bowman beat Grubaugh, 12-6.

Olympic Aces Welcome Dry Land Drilling

LONDON —(U.P.)— The formal opening of the 1948 Olympic games was just one week away today and the order of the day was "back to work" for members of the huge American squad.

Track men, weight-lifters, men and women swimmers, and all the others were back in training trying to regain the sharp edge of condition they might have lost in a week on ship.

The attitude of the various coaches, however, was sharply conflicting. Some of them ordered their charges to buckle down to the toughest kind of training but others advised their athletes to "take it easy" until they get their land legs back again.

DRIVING 'EM HARD

"None of my boys is in really good shape," said swimming Coach Bob Kiphuth. "But I'm driving hard to get them in trim as fast as possible. We are not passing up a single second of training time and I think we will reach the peak before the games start."

At the other extreme, Track Coach Dean Cromwell threatens to use a "fungo bat fore and aft" on any of his men whom he caught working too hard.

Cromwell wasn't having much luck restraining his athletes' enthusiasm however, because they rushed off to their training track almost the minute they arrived in their Uxbridge camp. Sprinter Mel Patton of Southern California set about practicing starts and hammer thrower Henry Dreyer of New York started heaving weights.

Bill Black jr. and Bob Moorhead are tied at 74 for the low medal score in qualifying rounds now being held for the Westbrook Country club championship.

Tom Raklets, pro at the club announced today that over 60 members had already turned in qualifying rounds and at least that number more were expected to qualify before the Sunday deadline.

Pairings for the tournament will be made Monday, Raklets said.

Hank Solves (?) Feller 'Mystery'

By CHARLES STINE

Cleveland Indians' vice-president Hank Greenberg offered his solution to the Bob Feller "mystery" yesterday, saying that the Indian's pitcher is merely going through a "transition."

Speaking before 400 persons at the father-son banquet at the Knights of Columbus club here last night, Greenberg predicted that Feller would "smarten up" soon and learn that he can no longer throw the ball past the hitters.

Greenberg cited the case of Lefty Grove, who lost his fast ball, had a bad season or two and then came back to have several fine seasons on a curve and control.

The tall former slugging first baseman, also backed Feller up by saying that it was his and Veeck's idea to pull Feller out of the all-star game. The reason given was that Bucky Harris, All-Star manager, would have used both Feller and Bob Lemon in the game to the advantage of his own Yanks. As it was, no Cleveland pitcher was used.

"The thoughts of some people comparing Feller with Bob Lemon and other Johnny-come-latelys are silly. Lemon, although a fine pitcher, will never be in Feller's class," Hank said.

Greenberg named the red-hot Boston Red Sox as the Indians' chief opposition for the American league pennant, although he said that the Athletics and Yankees cannot be counted out.

"The A's are a funny club," he joked. "Nobody is afraid of them. Even the team which plays them in the World's Series won't be afraid of them."

Greenberg followed a story-telling session by answering questions and signing autographs for the youngsters.

Jim Carrigan, Grand Knight of the Council, told the gathering that meetings of the same type were to be held every month with a sports figure as principal speaker. Frank Bunsey was chairman of the meeting.

Sixty-five members of the council will go in two special busses to the Boston-Cleveland game the night of July 30.
